SAFETY SONNETS

ONE LIGHT FOR A MINER IS SAFE AND OKAY, HE CAN WORK UNDERGROUND AND WHISTLE AWAY

BUT ONE LIGHT ON A CAR IS A PRACTICE UNSOUND, IT MAY PUT THE DRIVER HIMSELF UNDERGROUND!

—National Safety Council

Failure to replace a defective bulb in a headlight is not a step toward economy, but is more apt to be a costly measure of neglect, according to Secretary of State Earl Snell.

Nearly 400 accidents causing four fatalities in Oregon last year involved automobiles driven after dark with one or both headlights out. It is reasonably to assume that many of these accidents would not have occurred if the headlights had been up to standard.

Not only does the "one-eyed" driver expose himself to accident, but he greatly increases the risk to pedestrians who happen to be walking along or crossing the road he is traveling. Pedestrian safety at night requires that headlights be kept up to maximum efficiency, since it is difficult enough for a driver to see pedestrians in the road ahead of him under the best conditions.

Nearly all trucking companies have made spare headlight bulbs a standard item of equipment, and one concern in the east has gone so far as to equip every truck with a complete auxiliary lighting system operated off a separate battery, so that in case of a failure in any part of the regular system, there will be no decrease in the truck's lighting efficiency. This step was taken in recognition of the great importance played by proper lighting in safe night driving.

BOARDMAN NEWS

Blanche Jones Home Destroyed by Fire

By MRS. CLAUD COATS

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Blanche Jones home and nearly all contents Wednesday of last week at 3 p. m. The family was away at the time, Mrs. Jones and Phil leaving only a short time before. The Funkhausers, living across the road, saw the fire and were fortunate enough to save a few articles, the davenport, big chair, heating stove and radio, also had time to save the fruit which was in a small outbuilding. The house and two small outbuildings were burned to the ground in a few minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Stout and Mrs. C. Nickerson were shopping in Pendleton Friday.

Frank Ackerman of Boardman was lucky in locating a den of coyotes two miles east of Boardman Sunday while hunting jack rabbits. With the aid of Nate Macomber and Gilbert Pettys he succeeded in digging them out and found the mother and eight pups. These were turned over to the trapper, Adam Knoblock.

County Agent Clifford Conrad and wife were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gorham Friday.

Pendleton seemed to attract the Boardman people Saturday as several were seen shopping there. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lay and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntyre and son John, Mrs. Z. J. Gillespie and sons, Elvin Ely, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berger and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barlow and Carma, Mr. and Mrs. S. Russell and family, Mrs. Claud Coats and Echo and Essie Jones.

Don't forget the date of the Senior Frolic, April 8th, at the Boardman gym. Music by the Troubadors.

Mrs. E. M. Souders was pleasantly surprised to have her sister from Richland stop or a few days' visit.

Boardman FFA chapter entertained about 150 boys and advisors Friday at the American speech and parliamentary procedure meeting.

Dufur, Heppner, The Dalles, Redmond, Condon, Arlington and Boardman were represented.

Friday night, March 31, there will be a miscellaneous community shower for the Blanche Jones family, held in the grange hall.

Mrs. Ethel Nethercott of Jackson, Wyo., arrived at the home of her brother, Chas. Nickerson, for a two weeks' stay. Mrs. Nethercott says her daughter Ethel is clerk in the Jackson postoffice. The Nethercotts are former residents of the project.

Lyman Randall arrived on the project last week and is visiting at the Kunze home. Mr. Randall has been in Idaho working since he left here two years ago.

Spring Term Shows Same 8% Increase

Oregon State College—Spring term registration at OSC has continued the eight per cent gain over a year ago which occurred in the fall and winter terms. Enrollment by the end of the fourth day had reached a new high for spring at 3902 compared with 3618 at the same time last year.

Late comers were expected to boost the final total to 4000. Spring term, as usual, brought a slight drop in registration compared with the first two terms, when final totals were 4406 in the fall and 4382 last term.
