Reed Mill Starts Season's Operations

By HARDMAN HIGH SCHOOL
The Reed mill started to work Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDaniel in charge of the cook house.
Since there were many other attractions on Saturday night and many of the farmers were busy at spring work, the four one-act plays did not attract the usual crowd. The plays, however, went off well, the audience showing much appreciation of various clever parts, as when Creth Craber and Marvin Saddler indulged in a most uncongenial domestic scene. Other well-acted parts were Varn McDaniel's encounter with the bat; Frances Inskeep's increasing exasperation over the blue gown; Mildred Clary's portrayal of a pestiferous kid, and Irl Clary's convincing Vera McDaniel and Grace Buschke that he was a good book agent. Startling occurrences were when Rita Robinson opened package, Jean Leathers' flow of baby talk, and Nona Inskeep's high faluting language. Elsa Leathers' part as the cross teacher was well acted. Between plays Junior Leathers and Cecil McDaniel sang "Twilight on the Trail." Vera McDaniel played a piano solo and Vera and Maxine McDaniel sang "Say You'll Be Mine."
