

Farm Debt Advice Offered April 20-22

S. T. Bailie, district FDA supervisor, will be available at the Farm Security administration office at Pendleton, April 20 to 22 to discuss debt adjustment possibilities with any farmer who may be badly involved financially or who may be facing possible loss of his farm thru foreclosure. This service is voluntary and may be had at all times by applying to your local county Farm Security Administration supervisor, who is assisted by a competent committee.

Farm debt adjustment is only one of the many services offered to farmers by the Farm Security administration. Voluntary FDA advisory committees are often successful in bringing about satisfactory adjustments between debtors and creditors that could not otherwise be reached.

This friendly confidential service may be obtained by calling at your nearest Farm Security administration office or by writing your district FDA supervisor, Post Office building, La Grande.

High School Typists To Compete April 18

Martha Hill, typing instructor at Arlington high school and also the chairman of commercial teachers association of this district, announces a typing contest to be held at Arlington high school Tuesday, April 18. All schools in this area are invited. Prizes will be awarded to winning teams as well as individuals scoring 1st, 2nd or 3rd place. Schools already entered include Arlington, Condon, Heppner, The Dalles, Ione, Lexington. Material to be used is the same as that used at Corvallis in the Oregon state contest which will be held at O. S. C., April 22.

In past years the battle has been between Heppner and Condon, with Ione also taking points, and with The Dalles team entered, it should bring out some real competition. In the past, records made in this contest have been well up with performance in state contests and students winning this district contest have always given a good account of themselves in the state contest. The state typing record is 76 words per minute, made in 1937 by Carolyn Means of Redmond high school. She is now a student at Oregon State college.

WE INVITE YOU
