

RENEWED APPEAL FROM RELATIVES OF CITY'S GODFATHER RECEIVED HERE

At various intervals for several years, appeals have been received in Heppner from relatives of Henry Heppner, the city's god-father, who are undergoing persecution in Germany. Latest was received by Mayor Bleakman this week from Ruth Gluskinos-Heppner, dated at Amsterdam, Holland. It reads:

"As a distant relative of Mr. Henry Heppner, the founder of your town, I take the liberty to address you in greatest despair with an urgent call for assistance.

"I am complying herewith with the intention of my father, Rabbi Dr. Aron Heppner, who had been archbishop of the Jewish congregation of Breslau up to his death and who has no doubt done honor to the name of 'Heppner.' Filled with worry about the future of his children, it had been his intention to communicate with you personally, which however could not be carried out through his sudden death on December 3rd, 1938, as a result of the terrible days of persecution in Germany during November, 1938, of which, no doubt, you have heard. As the only one of the seven daughters of my father, I succeeded in finding a temporary place of refuge here in Holland, together with my husband and our four children. All of my sisters with their families are still in Germany, but should leave there as quickly as possible, as they are being threatened almost daily by the 'Gestapo'—the German secret police of state—with the prospects of being locked up in one of their notorious 'concentration camps' where two of my brothers-in-law have already been detained for some time.

"We all have only the most ardent wish to be able to immigrate to the U. S. A. and now come to you with the request to procure affidavits for us. There are in all ten grown-up people and eight children.

"As, of course, it will take some time before the formalities are completed, enabling all of us to enter the United States, it is of the utmost importance for my sisters and families to leave Germany as quickly as possible for some place of refuge, pending their final immigration. For this purpose a larger sum of money is required and as I know of no other way in this desperate situation, I am appealing to you, to let us have the required funds as a temporary loan.

"In order to convince yourself that you would not be rendering your assistance to someone unworthy of it, you can, of course, at any time inquire with the Jewish congregation at Breslau.

"I do hope to receive a favourable reply at an early date and want to thank you sincerely therefor in advance."

Local Song Writer Honors Mothers' Day

John A. Anglin sang an original composition at the Methodist church last Sunday in honor of Mothers' day, and on special request will repeat at the church service next Sunday evening. Entitled, "Mother, Most Wonderful Mother," the song is sung to the tune of "The Cross is Not Greater." It follows:

I
Oh mother, most wonderful mother,
We think of you today;
Please pray that your child may be happy
And walk the narrow way.

Chorus:
Your prayers, they fill my heart
with praise;
Your smiles, they thrill me thru the days;
You're the pal of pals to me.
When you pray I've victory;
Keep on praying, mother mine.

II
Oh mother, most wonderful mother,
Though miles between us span,
Just place your kind hand on our foreheads,
So we like men may stand.

Chorus:
III
Oh mother, most wonderful mother,
Wherever you may be,
We know you are thinking about us,
And our thoughts are first of thee.

Chorus:
IV
Oh mother, most wonderful mother,
Though your hair be white as snow,
Your smile it is still worth a "million,"
Your face with joy doth glow.

Chorus:
V
Oh mother, most wonderful mother,
When the toils of earth are past,
Then you who have served here so faithfully
Will be crowned in heaven at last.

Last Chorus:
Your prayers then mother will be o'er,
You'll smile upon the other shore.
With your Saviour you shall be,
There throughout Eternity,
Mother, darling mother mine.

Added Coverage on Spring Crop up June 1

Spring wheat growers who have planted more acreage than covered by their original crop insurance applications may still obtain full coverage by filing supplemental applications and paying additional premiums, according to N. C. Donaldson of Corvallis, state AAA executive officer for Oregon.

Deadline for supplemental applications on spring wheat is June 1, according to information received by Clifford Conrad, county agent for Morrow county. The original deadline for such supplemental applications had been announced previously as April 29.

"Inspection of insured crops in Oregon has shown that some farmers have actually planted more acres of wheat than that for which they had paid their premiums," said Donaldson.

"Since the crop insurance policies insure all wheat on the farm, the yield from the entire crop will be taken into consideration to determine whether or not there is a loss. Therefore, it is to the grower's advantage to be sure that his policy actually covers all the wheat he has planted."

Rare Snow Pictures Taken Near Prairie

Whit Ewing, who visited his family here the end of the week after completing a good shearing season in California, exhibited some unusual snow pictures taken at Prairie City last winter when the family was residing there.

Pictured were snowballs, some as much as 15 to 20 inches in diameter, that had been rolled up by the wind. A large snow-covered prairie was shown all ruffled up by the wind-made balls. The snow, light in texture, had fallen just the day before, and the weather had moderated enough to make it sticky. The wind that whipped it into balls was moderately stiff, but not a gale, said Ewing.
