THE BOY SCOUT executive committee submits this appeal for financial aid. May it touch a responsive chord in Heppner hearts, and a responsive jingle in club coffers:

"Boy Scouts of America has been one of the greatest factors in the development of the youth of the United States. Next to home, church and school it has left its mark of betterment in the lives of millions of boys the last quarter of a century. There is no case but where the boy has received much mental, moral and physical stimulus from his membership. Where there is an active troop it has solved much of the problem of what the boy is to do in his spare time, especially through the summer vacation period.

"Heppner has a local troop that is badly in need of support and encouragement. More boys are needed to join this fine organization and they will be welcomed anytime by Scoutmaster Tom Wells or Assistant Scoutmasters Rev. Martin Clark and Howard Bryant. Parents are requested to encourage their boys to join and attend. Friends and parents, financial support is also needed. It is necessary to raise $100 this month to cover the year's obligations if the local troop is to continue as an official organization."

1939 Wheat Loan Rate Increased On Oregon Farms

Oregon farmers cooperating with the AAA farm program will be able to get government loans on this year's wheat crop at rates somewhat higher than in 1938, according to announcement by N. C. Donaldson of Corvallis, state executive officer.

The loan value of wheat will be increased seven cents in most cases, and where there is a high protein content it will be increased even more, he stated. Although the 1939 loan program will be similar to that of 1938, there will be these three principal changes:

1. Rates to farmers are slightly higher in the Great Plains and Pacific northwest areas. For Oregon this means a basic terminal rate of 73 cents at Portland for No. 1 soft white wheat as compared with 67 cents last year.

2. At county points where rates are computed on the basis of terminal rates, the rates are increased by a cent. For example, last year the rate at Pendleton was 15.4 cents less than the rate at Portland. This year the difference is 14.4 cents.

3. The loan rate on hard red spring, hard red winter and hard white wheat is increased to include an allowance for a protein premium where farmers can obtain protein tests or certificates of protein content.

AAA county committees will certify producers who are eligible for these four per cent loans, and will be responsible for grading and inspecting farm-stored wheat. Only growers who have signed farm plan estimate sheets, indicating participation in the 1939 program, and who have seeded their wheat within the wheat allotment, will be eligible.

"The announcement of the program two months earlier than last year will greatly aid farmers in planning their operations," said Donaldson.

Troedsons Attend Marvel Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Troedson attended the Marvel reunion last Sunday held at the old home place on Rock Creek, now occupied by Charley Marvel, one of the sons. The children were all present with the exception of Ray Marvel of Friend, Ore., and Mrs. Charlotte Adkisson of Boyd, Ore. Many grandchildren and some great grandchildren were in attendance. The father of the family, George A. at the age of 97 years, at that time Marvel, passed away last December being at the home of his son Arthur of Boyd, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Troedson left Wednesday for White Salmon to spend a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Balsiger. They were accompanied as far as The Dalles by W. G. Palmateer, who was on his way to Jasper, Ore., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Ralph McCormick.

Mrs. E. R. Lundell, Mrs. Lana Padberg, Mrs. C. F. Feldman and Mrs. Victor Rietmann were hostesses for the social meeting of the Womens Topic club at the Lundell home Saturday afternoon. Seven members and eight guests were present, and prizes were won by Mrs. Clel Ray and Mrs. M. E. Cotter, and the guest prize was won by Mrs. Fred Mankin.

Mrs. E. M. Baker took the pupils of her Sunday school class to her farm home Friday afternoon, where they spent the afternoon playing games. Refreshments were served. Those present were Norma Lou and Billie Lundell, Darlene Cole, Laurel Palmateer, Francine Ely and Lois Ring.

The agricultural committee of Willows grange is sponsoring a dance at their hall at Cecil for June 3rd. The proceeds will be used toward a scholarship for a 4-H member for summer school.

A large number of people from this locality attended the co-op picnic at French's prairie Sunday and report a good time and perfect weather.

Rose Marie Gorger returned home Friday after attending school at the academy in Pendleton this winter.

Alice Douglas arrived Friday to spend the summer vacation at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Douglas at Morgan.

Fred W. Griffith and son Dale returned to their home in Portland Tuesday after spending the week end here visiting Mr. Griffith's mother, Mrs. P. J. Linn, and his brother, Elmer Griffith.

The H. E. club of Willows grange will meet at the home of Mrs. Martha Dismore on June 7.

"Whiskey Gulch Gang" Origin Told As Canyon City Prepares Celebration

By E. P. TRUESDELL

Canyon City—Many visitors to the Canyon City annual "62" celebration, particularly easterners, ask, "Where did you get that name, 'The Whiskey Gulch Gang?'"

Names for the many celebrations of the west, and sponsors thereof, are many and varied, unique and descriptive, but few if any equal that of the sponsors of Canyon City's annual show for distinctiveness and originality, yet few know the origin of the name.

Back in the prohibition days the name was a bit unfortunate, for many thought it meant what it said and came to this interior section expecting free and liberal indulgence in the flowing bowl.

But be that as it may, when Canyon City was a wild and woolly mining camp, back in 1878, word came that an unusually large number of Indians were headed this way. In the past it had been found that when the bucks came to town they helped themselves to the "firewater" and raised h---. So when the report came that this big band was coming, all the liquor in town, public and private stocks, was hastily gathered and taken to a gulch on the south edge of town that ran back into the mountains, and buried, all of it, that the Indians might find nothing to arouse their latent viciousness. In their haste to get the stuff buried, many forgot just where they had deposited it, hence whiskey was dug up here and there, by accident or persistent effort in that gulch, for many years thereafter. Thus the gulch got its name, "Whiskey Gulch." Henry Kuhl, long a citizen of Canyon City, now of Newport, was the last one known to have found any of the buried liquor. He dug up, accidentally, of course, four big, full quart bottles, some ten years ago. They had been planted upright, and though the corks had loosened and some evaporated, yet each remained half full of liquor that was liquor.

Hence, when the "62" celebration was started, the boys who sponsored it adopted the name of the Whiskey Gulch Gang. Not to mislead any visitors, but as a unique name to go with the unique and unusual show they sponsor, and are putting it on in all its originality this year, the 17th annual event, June 16 and 17.

There is some good liquor here yet, but it is all in the drug store.

Making Maraschino Cherries At Home

Cherry season always brings many requests for information on how to make maraschino cherries in small quantities at home. The food products department at Oregon State college, which pioneered in commercial methods of making maraschino cherries, has recently issued a circular of information which tells how to modify the large scale commercial methods and apply them to gallon lots of pitted cherries.

Preparing maraschino cherries involves bleaching, stemming and pitting, leeching, dyeing, applying the syrup and the desired flavor. Although dyed cherries are generally flavored with imitation maraschino flavor, other kinds may be used, such as almond extract, rose, lemon, or grenadine. The bleached cherries are also sometimes dyed green and then flavored with mint.

The mimeographed circular No. 198 also contains detailed instructions, and addresses of places where dyes and other materials may be purchased.
