- New Laws
- Old Prisoners Out
- Highway Funds

By A. L. LINDBECK

Salem—Residents of Oregon will be subject to 367 new regulations on and after next Wednesday when the new laws passed by the recent legislative session become effective. These are the legislative acts passed without benefit of the emergency clause and which have had to season for 90 days before becoming statutes. A total of 188 emergency measures passed by the session became effective upon signature by the governor.

Most of the new laws involve only minor amendments to existing statutes. There are a number of important amendments to the game laws which are of special interest to hunters and fishermen. Motorists will be particularly interested in an amendment to the traffic law which requires the dimming of headlights when meeting another car, regardless of weather conditions.

The new peoples utility district act, "hot potato" of the session, is one of the most important of the new laws. Public ownership advocates strenuously opposed the measure and threatened to invoke the referendum against it but apparently changed their mind.

Another important measure provides for the consolidation of rural school districts. Still another requires night clubs to be licensed by the liquor control commission. The September primary law is also in the long list of new legislation due to become effective next week unless the grange and Commonwealth Federation complete their referendum petitions before the deadline Tuesday night.

Company C, Grants Pass; company D, Oregon City; company H, The Dalles; company I, Forest Grove; company M, Corvallis, were among the 36 units of the Oregon National Guard receiving "very satisfactory" rating this year according to Major General George A. White. Silk streamers for the unit guidons will be presented by General White during the annual field training assembly at Camp Clatsop this month.

O. R. Bean, who succeeded N. G. Wallace as public utilities commissioner June 1 has announced the appointment of F. L. Davis of Portland to the post of assistant commissioner. Davis, who is now chief of operations in the department of public works over which Bean was head while serving on the Portland city commission, will join the utilities department within the week.

Frank Nixon, formerly of Sheridan, has been designated as milk and cream supervisor in Marion and Clackamas counties, it has been announced by J. D. Mickle, director of the state department of agriculture. Ralph Schwab of Mt. Angel has been appointed as the department's assistant district representative in Marion county.

Attorney General Van Winkle has advised Governor Sprague that in his opinion the new parole law enacted by the last legislature does not apply to prisoners committed prior to the effective date of the act, June 14. In anticipation of such a ruling the governor had already instructed the parole board to make a study of all prison cases deserving of leniency with the understanding that he will commute sentences regarded by the board as unfully severe in the light of the recently authorized parole reform.

Since its creation in 1913 the State Highway Department has collected a total of $289,754,412.79, of which it had disbursed $287,443,014.58 to April 30, last, leaving a balance on hand of $2,311,398.21, according to figures compiled by Secretary of State Snell.

Gasoline taxes provided $95,495,887.76 of the department's huge fund. Motor vehicle license fees supplied another $64,773,648.94.

More than $50,000,000 have been raised for road purposes through the sale of bonds and the federal government has supplied $45,665,367.14 in aid and grants.

Other principal revenue sources are listed as follows: one-fourth mill road tax, $2,429,480.91; one-mill market road tax, $12,854,982.12; cooperative aid from counties, $8,463,771.95; bus and truck fees, $5,297,121.32.

In the past 26 years $210,650,223.80 has gone into road construction, maintenance and administrative expenses; $37,808,250 has gone toward retiring bonds; $26,289,812.12 represents interest payments to bond holders; $2,099,535.33 has been transferred to the state police fund and $10,595,193.33 has been apportioned to the several counties.

E. G. Ziegler of Hood River has been named by Governor Sprague as a member of the advisory board for the state employment service. Most of the board members are Portland residents. Ziegler will represent canning and packing interests.

One of the first orders issued by O. R. Bean after taking over his new duties as public utilities commissioner forbids employees of the commission to party with or receive gifts from representatives of utilities coming under the commission's jurisdiction.

Eleven Oregon counties have experienced no traffic fatalities so far this year, according to reports compiled by Secretary of State Snell. They include Benton, Crook, Gilliam, Harney, Jefferson, Josephine, Sherman, Wallowa, Wasco and Wheeler.
