Selective Cutting For Kinzua Aided

Lawrence Pagter, national forest administrator in charge of state and private forestry, passed through Heppner Monday with Carl Ewing, supervisor of Umatilla National forest, and assistant Clyde Overby, on the way to Kinzua. The officials were interested in selective logging lots that are being laid out for the Kinzua Pine mills.

R. U. Cambers, forester, is in charge of the work that will assist the Kinzua mills in complying with the selective cutting agreement made with the forest service.

Oregon, Washington Cars Lead at Fair

Oregon and Washington led by a wide margin all other sections of the nation in automobile registrations at the San Francisco fair in a 40-day period from May 20 to June 30, according to a report issued by the travel department of the Oregon State Motor association.

The two northwest states provided 32.07 per cent of 17,040 cars entering the fairgrounds from various sections of the nation, it was pointed out. Oregon alone contributed 15.2 per cent, or 2,581 automobiles. No California cars were included in the count.

Cars from ten western states made up 55.2 per cent of registrations. All states west of the Mississippi sent 75.7 per cent of the total national
