Site Money Returned

BUSINESS houses who, in February, contributed toward the purchase of a site to locate a box factory here, received their money back this week. Disappointment has been evidenced for some time that plans of the company failed to materialize, and the company deemed it proper in fairness to contributors to authorize return of the money though their plans still favor Heppner for an extension of their operations.

No definite promises have emanated from head officials of the company at any time. At one time, it seemed that all plans were in order and a start would be made. But, as Mr. Leash warned at the meeting when solicitation of site funds was authorized, unforeseen problems came up that had to clear through the head office in Chicago, all of which have delayed the expected start.

While disappointment prevails locally that the company's plans have so far failed to materialize, it is heartening, as told in the company's letter, that Heppner is still being strongly considered. There should be no loss of good will toward the company on the part of our people, and when their operation starts, which still appears quite probable, they should be received as warmly as ever.

Timber purchases of the company so far have resulted in one payroll industry for the town, as they have been keeping the Heppner Lumber mill busy cutting logs. Addition of a box factory, surely, would be most welcome—and that, according to Mr. Kraft's letter, is not yet out of the picture.

Again, we can not help but say thank you, Mr. Leash and Mr. Kraft, for your fairness, and may you come again—to stay.

STATE CAPITAL NEWS

- Martin for Garner
- 61 Pass Bar Exam

By A. L. LINDBECK

Salem—Former Governor Charles H. Martin has come out flat-footedly for John Nance Garner as his choice for the Democratic candidate for president. In a letter addressed to several hundred "real Democrats" throughout Oregon he urges their support in electing a Garner-instructed delegation to the Democratic national convention.

"I am convinced that the real democrats of Oregon are tired of the damn fool idiocyncracies of the new deal and will welcome the chance to vote for a sound conservative statesman as their party's nominee next year," Martin's letter reads in part.

While in Salem this week attending the annual convention of the American Legion the former governor and retired major general spiked rumors that he would seek election to Congress as has been rumored. Instead, he said, he would devote his entire efforts during the next few months to advancing the cause of Garner with whom he served during his two terms in Congress and for whose ability he has a great deal of respect.

Sixty-one of the 95 applicants for admission to the Oregon bar passed their tests successfully according to the report released by the state supreme court this week. Only two of the 61 were women. The percentage of successful applicants was much higher this year than last when much criticism was leveled at the board of bar examiners for the heavy casualties inflicted in grading the examination papers.

WILLOWS GRANGE NEWS

The grange meeting held at the Lundell home Sunday was well attended, and all present did justice to the heaped platters of fried chicken, tempting salads, the fine array of cakes and steaming cups of coffee. All wish that the summer were longer that we might have more such meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, members of Damascus grange in Clackamas county, were guests of Willows grange Sunday.

All special grange committees working on grange building sites, materials, selection of building type, etc., having completed their findings and reports accepted, were dismissed by Master Baker.

On suggestion of the Clackamas county visitors, a building committee of seven members was elected by ballot. Those receiving highest number of votes were A. W. Lundell, Vida Hliker, O. L. Lundell, Mary Lundell, Paul O'Meara, Harry Yarnell, Marjorie Baker. Markham Baker will work with the committee. This committee is authorized to go ahead with blue prints, ordering lumber and other materials, making reports at each grange meeting.

The executive committee, O. L. Lundell, J. O. Kincaid, Donald Hliker, Helen Lindsay and Markham Baker, will meet Tuesday evening at the Baker home. The business of finance is an important part of the executive committee's work.

The next meeting of Willows grange will be Sept. 9th, at the Cecil hall.

CARS COLLIDE

A collision that resulted in considerable damage to the H. O. Wray and Phil Griffin automobiles happened at 12:30 Saturday afternoon just below Interior warehouse on the highway. The Wray car was driving on to the highway from a road between the warehouses as the Griffin car came along the highway to hit it. A rise in the highway at this point obstructed Griffin's view until he was right upon the other car. Mr. Wray and Mr. Griffin, each of whom was alone, escaped injury.

AT AIRPLANE SCHOOL

Edmond Gonty has received word from his brother Thomas that the latter has entered the Anderson Airplane school at Los Angeles, taking a course in airplane designing. Thomas went to Los Angeles several weeks ago with his father, E. N. Gonty, who is remaining there for a several-weeks' visit. Thomas, who finished high school last year, was encouraged in his bent for a mechanical engineering career when two years ago he placed high in a national model automobile contest.

$100,000,000 REQUIRED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is making loans on the 1939 wheat crop through Commodity Credit corporation. The secretary says it is estimated that $100,000,000 will be required to continue wheat loans.

CAR HITS POWER POLE

When her dog momentarily interfered with her driving, Mrs. Boettiger from the Fred Mankin farm in the Ione district, swerved her car into a power pole beside the highway near the Robison service station at Ione. The accident happened shortly after noon, Saturday. Mrs. Boettiger escaped with scratches, the car was considerably damaged, and the pole was tilted at a 45 degree angle. Serious calamity was narrowly avoided, reports Ray P. Kinne, local manager of P. P. & L. company, who said insulators on the pole were loosened so that little held the high tension wire from falling on the car. Repairs to the line were made without cutting out service, the work requiring about five hours. Kinne said this is the second such accident on the local branch this year, from which, fortunately, the drivers escaped serious injury.

We have both the Polled and horned types. Both kinds are RICHLY BRED DOMINO CATTLE.

WE NOW HAVE FOR SALE A FEW YEARLING BULLS AND A FEW JANUARY BULL CALVES; ABOUT 15 BRED TWO-YEAR-OLD HEIFERS, AND 15 YEARLING HEIFERS.
