

Oil Co-Op Success Cited at Pomona

Making report of successful operation of Lexington Oil Co-operative before Pomona grange at Lexington Saturday evening, Mrs. Grace M. Turner, manager, made a stirring plea to farmers to stick by their co-operative guns.

"A cooperative is formed in almost every instance when the farmers of a community at last rebel at high prices they are made to pay with the knowledge that all of the profits made on the necessities they must purchase are lost to them," said Mrs. Turner before outlining the method of organizing and operating a cooperative. To keep a cooperative in shape to attain its objectives, members must support it and not fall for lower prices that may at times be offered elsewhere, she said in effect.

Citing growth of the Lexington Oil Co-op, she said that from a small beginning when money was borrowed to purchase the first load of gasoline, the company showed a net worth of $5000 last year, paid members about $800 in cash dividends plus $1000 which was returned to the company for added stock to permit expansion.

"Who else would have returned you $1800 for such purchases as were made from the company?" Mrs. Turner asked. She concluded with, "I would like to remind you to keep before you the example of the banana—every time it leaves the bunch it gets skinned."

SCOUT INSTITUTE SET

A camp leaders training institute will be held in Camp Rotary over the week-end of November 4 and 5 with epity Regional Executive Robert H. Hayes in charge. The purpose of this institute is to train a few selective men from each district who will repeat the course for all Scout leaders in their own districts next spring.

The bronze plaque of ex-Governor Charles H. Martin, donated to the state by admirers of the former governor, arrived at the capitol this week and will be placed in the memorial corridor on the lower floor of the building. Placing of the plaque was delayed when donors insisted that it be placed in the executive suite, an arrangement to which Secretary of State Snell objected as setting a precedent that might lead to embarrassing complications in the future.
