E. N. Gonty returned recently from Los Angeles where he spent several months with his son, Thomas, who is attending aviation school in the southern California city. Mr. Gonty said the heat wave had really started bearing down before he left, the mercury registering as high as 108 on L. A. streets, and he left a little sooner than expected because of the discomfort. Thomas, he said, was enthusiastic about his school work. Mr. Gonty, veteran shoe merchant, still believes Heppner is the best town on earth and expected he would stick around for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Steers were in town Friday from Hardman, having just returned from a hunt in the antlerless deer country in Grant county. The party of seven got two bucks and four doe. Just to help settle conflicting reports about the number of deer on the reserve, Mr. Steers said they are plentiful but that you had to be in the right spots.

Announcement has been received here of the birth of a 7½-pound son, Robert Patterson, to Mr. and Mrs. LeGrande Guild at Snohomish, Wn., on October 23. Mrs. Guild was formerly Miss Mary Patterson of this city. Mrs. Guild's mother, Mrs. C. C. Patterson, has been at Snohomish for some time, intending to remain for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belanger arrived in the city last evening from their home at Moro, Mrs. Belanger remaining for a visit with friends for a couple of days while Mr. Belanger went on to Pendleton today on business in connection with his position as cooperative research agent with federal agricultural agencies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Booher have been visiting relatives and friends here for the last week, coming from Boulder City, Nev., where Mr. Booher has been located for the last year in the service station business. They were guests of Mr. Booher's mother, Mrs. Maude Robison, and grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Booher.

W. T. Gerrard was a business visitor in the city Saturday from the north Lexington farm. While the season has been very dry, he was not alarmed. He likened the last several years to previous experience in Kansas, when one farmer was caused to opine, "We've got lots of fodder but no corn."

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barratt returned the first of the week from Corvallis where they went to be present Saturday for Dad's day activities on the O. S. C. campus, including attendance at the W. S. C.-O. S. C. football game. Their son Billy is a freshman at the college this year.

Judge and Mrs. Calvin L. Sweek and friends, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Young, of Pendleton were visitors for a short time in Heppner Wednesday afternoon. The party had been in Monument visiting Mr. Sweek's mother and returned to Pendleton by way of Heppner.

Walter and Noel Dobyns returned home yesterday from an elk hunting trip into Wallowa county. They didn't succeed in bagging their game, but reported an extra large number of hunters and a generally good kill there. Several inches of snow made the landscape plenty winterish.

Old timers may remember Charlie Roever who left Heppner in 1924 and has since been located at Jackson, Miss. By postcard communication this morning, Mr. Roever seeks news through Gazette Times of old-time friends, anticipating many changes since he left here.

J. G. Thomson, Jr., motored to Portland Sunday and returned Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Thompson and their baby daughter, Meredith Jean, who stood the trip in good shape.

Mrs. Lillie Aiken returned this week from a visit of several weeks at San Francisco.

Mrs. Fern Duran, Mrs. E. S. Duran and Mrs. R. G. McMurtry motored to Lexington for the masquerade skating Saturday evening. They report the crowd was having a big time and that skating prizes were awarded to Velma Way, Louise Hunt and Charlie Padberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Williams and baby moved this week to the recently completed apartment at the S. H. Shannon house. The Williams family came here from Yakima and Mr. Williams is engaged in log hauling.

Mrs. Henry Taylor and son Lester has just returned from a week's visit at Bremerton, Wash., with daughter and sister, Mrs. Ireta Baxter, and with Mrs. Taylor's sisters, Mrs. Delia Stauber and Mrs. J. N. Coffey in Portland.

Bert Palmateer, up from the Morgan country yesterday, reported that his section had received but one light shower of rain in recent weeks and could do with a lot more moisture.

M. E. Duran is among hunters out in quest of elk this week. We are hoping for good results, reported his mother, Mrs. E. S. Duran.

Louis Cason and Larrence Matteson were in town Tuesday preparing to leave for an elk hunt.

Josephine Mahoney returned the first of the week from a fortnight spent in Portland.

TAXPAYERS ORGANIZE
Western Oregon taxpayers, more than 200 strong, gathered in Salem this week to hear Frank Arnold, Nebraska tax authority, blame an apparent lack of public interest in government for the ever-increasing tax burden. Arnold said there was a need for militant citizens' organizations to take an active part in reducing the tax burdens and, acting on the suggestion, preliminary steps were taken to form an Oregon taxpayers' league. Claude Buchanan, former Benton county legislator, was elected chairman of the group to organize the league. Buchanan was authorized to appoint one or more representatives from each of the nine counties represented at the meeting to serve on the committee to complete organization of the group.

Public utilities commissioner, Ormond R. Bean, announced completion of a 10-year bond extension plan this week to meet the maturity of over $12,000,000 in bonds of the Portland Gas and Coke company. Bean's plan includes a provision that $600,000 of new capital be put into the company by the parent organization, The American Power and Light company. The Portland company would issue 6,000 shares of stock to the parent company for this investment. The additional money would be used to finance by-product expansion. The security and exchange commission will hold a hearing soon on the Bean proposal.
