

Lex-Ione Churches Call New Pastor

The united churches of Lexington and Ione have called William Moffat Dennis to be their pastor. The congregations will cast their final vote next Sunday, with the Lexington congregation voting in the morning and the Ione congregation in the evening.

Mr. Dennis is a graduate of Western Baptist Theological seminary, and Bible Institute of Los Angeles, having taken his college work in British Columbia. He comes to Ione and Lexington with high endorsement of Dr. F. W. Starring, Dr. Carlson and Dr. Swander, state heads of the denominations represented in the congregations. The pastorate here is slated to start December first. Mr. Dennis' last charge was in connection with the rural mission work of the First Baptist church of Astoria.

Mr. Dennis comes accompanied by Mrs. Dennis who assist him in the musical work. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dennis are accomplished musicians.

Services for December are announced as follows: First two Sundays, mornings in Lexington and evenings in Ione; last three Sundays, mornings in Ione and evenings in Lexington.

Members of the congregations report encouragement at prospects of a permanent pastor and are looking forward to future prosperity of the work in the two communities.

Emil Marquardt Succumbs to Illness

Emil Marquardt, 57, passed away Saturday at the farm home of his brother, Louis Marquardt, north of Lexington, following a week's illness from pneumonia. He had been assisting at his brother's farm for several years. He had suffered for some time from gall bladder trouble and his last severe illness had reached an advanced stage before he gave in to it and took to his bed. A special nurse from Portland arrived too late to be of assistance.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday from Pearson Funeral church in Portland, with interment following in a vault in Lincoln Memorial cemetery, that city.

Emil Julius Marquardt was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Marquardt, being aged 57 years, 10 months and 5 days at death. Besides the parents who reside in Portland, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Theodore Drake, and son, Howard, besides sisters, Mrs. Matilda Londershausen, Mrs. Elmer G. Balsiger, Mrs. Elsie A. Marquardt, and brothers, Charles A., Louis O., Henry C. and George W. Marquardt; also by one grandson. The brothers, Charles and Louis, both reside on farms north of Lexington.

4-H ACHIEVEMENTS

sponsoring the members at Portland, providing summer school scholarships, and third and fifth year achievement pins and leaders' pins.

Mary McIntyre, this year's delegate from Hardman, told of the enjoyable trip to Portland and the royal way they were treated by the bank officials while there. Clayton Wright, the other delegate, from Rhea creek, told of the attractions at the livestock exposition and night horse show.

A silver loving cup, an annual rotation award given by the Heppner Lions club, was presented by M. L. Case, club president, to this year's champion sheep club of Pine City.

Summer school scholarships for next year were presented to Bernard Doherty by the Heppner Elks lodge for winning the dairy showmanship contest at the county fair; to Leland Emondson by the Heppner Safeway store for winning the pig showmanship contest; to Guy Moore by the Wool Growers auxiliary for winning the sheep showmanship contest; and to Donald Campbell by Braden-Bell Tractor Co. for first in beef showmanship.

Gene Majeske received a scholarship from the First National Bank of Portland for winning the special record keeping contest, and Malcolm O'Brien a scholarship from the Heppner J. C. Penney store for being high point man in the livestock judging contest at the county fair. In announcing the scholarship, Conrad stated that Morrow county could well be proud of Malcolm as he won the same honors at the Pacific International Livestock exposition this fall in competition with 153 other club members from the seven northwestern states.

Mildred Clary and Vern, McDaniel received scholarships given by Morrow county for having the best home economics demonstration at the county fair and Margaret Tamlyn was awarded a scholarship for being champion in the style review contest.

Tad Miller and Pat O'Brien received scholarships from the state fair board for winning first in their sheep classes at the state fair, and Bruce Lindsay received a scholarship for placing first with his purebred Guernsey heifer in a class of 28 head.

Achievement awards, which will be announced next week, were presented to all club members who completed their 1939 projects and turned in their completed record books.

Music for the program was furnished by Mrs. Maud Kobow at the piano, Frances and Dagmar Skoubo of Boardman, vocal duet; Donald and Burton Peck, guitar and violin; Rae Cowins and Jean Rauch of Lexington, vocal duet, and singing of 4-H club songs by the entire group.

Wheat Price Picture Presented to Lions

Presaging the large menu of information on the wheat situation that will be served all who attend the annual Eastern Oregon Wheat league conference at Condon, Dec. 8-9, Clifford Conrad, county agent, brought a message on the wheat price situation to the Monday Lions luncheon.

He told of the large wheat stocks in the world at present, sufficient to meet a year's world consumption without the raising of a kernel in 1940, and of the increased production in Canada, Argentina and Australia that has completely changed the world picture from what it was at outbreak of the first World war in 1914 when prices skyrocketed. Though some stiffening of the market has occurred since outbreak of the present conflict in Europe, nothing in federally released statistics indicates that much change in the price situation is likely to occur in the next year. The federal agricultural control program has been responsible for giving American farmers advantage of a much higher price than has existed the world over, Conrad said.

FIRE WRECKS HOUSE

Fire irreparably damaged the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilkins on Baltimore street early Monday morning from unknown cause. Flames evidently burst through the rear kitchen wall onto the back porch first, while three O'Brien children, two sons and daughter of Mrs. Wilkins, only ones present in the house were still asleep. Alva Jones, next door, was first to turn in the alarm, though Albert Schunk, police chief, had discovered the flames while walking up Gale street and was rushing to give the alarm when the siren sounded. Ralph Beamer, fire chief, was getting a cup of coffee down town and though he made the fire station in nothing flat, Bill Isom already had the truck out and it was on the scene before the siren stopped sounding. In spite of the firemen's efforts that saved the superstructure and considerable of the contents, loss to several hundred dollars was sustained. It was insured.

C. W. McNAMER ILL

C. W. McNamer, prominent stock buyer, entered Heppner hospital last week end, suffering from a severe attack of bronchial pneumonia, from which he is reported showing favorable improvement. A special nurse was called from Portland to attend him.

There were 93 hit-and-run accidents reported to the secretary of state's office for the month of October, but only one resulted in a fatality, it was announced today. Four persons were injured in accidents of this classification.

Hood River Meeting To Oppose Super Park

Hood River, Nov. 29—While coordination of efforts of federal public agencies, regional and community commercial organizations, state bodies and private enterprise, for the purpose of hastening to realization benefits made available by Columbia river development, will be the theme of the coming annual meeting of the Mid-Columbia chamber of commerce, W. H. Dean has declared that a resolution will be introduced in firm demand that the federal government forget its efforts at establishing a super national park along the backbone of the Cascade mountains down thru the state of Washington.

The annual regional chamber will hold its membership meeting and annual banquet at the Columbia Gorge hotel here December 14. Mr. Dean, head of the Oregon-Washington Telephone company, which serves the mid-Columbia Oregon and Washington orchard districts, says that he finds sentiment against such a national park general in all communities. Oregonians are expressing a fear of the movement, which they say may be followed, if the proposed Cascade park is established, by similar efforts in Oregon.

Elliott, Bonneville district engineer; Charles Baker, president of the Inland Waterways association; Ray Conway, manager of the Oregon State Motor association; and Frank Branch Riley, ambassador-at-large of the Pacific northwest's scenic realm.

Invitations have been extended to the Oregon State Horticultural society and Eastern Oregon Wheat league, which hold annual meetings the week before the regional chamber sessions, to delegate representatives to attend the Columbia Gorge hotel gathering and report the crystallization of sentiment of their respective groups for needs in the way of securing maximum and earliest benefits from Bonneville power and Columbia river navigation.

MRS. REA HOME

Mrs. Albert Rea returned home yesterday from Portland where she has been for the last three months convalescing after a major operation. Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wood, at whose home she stayed while in the city, accompanied her. Mr. and Mrs. Rea have established residence in an apartment at Hotel Heppner.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the Heppner Fire department for their fine efforts to save our residence, and to the many friends for their help and expressions of sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilkins and children.

J. A. Troedson, in the city Friday from the Morgan farm, reported a fine time at the annual Morgan community Thanksgiving dinner, held the day before.
