Scenic Stickers to Advertise Oregon

A beautiful, natural-color photograph of an Oregon beach scene, will be presented every non-resident motorist who registers his car in this state during the year 1940, it was revealed today.

Earl Snell, secretary of state, announced that the 1940 non-resident permits, which are in the form of stickers to be placed on the windshields of out-of-state cars, would feature the actual color photograph of a scene at one of Oregon's many beaches, showing two girls on horseback and another girl on a bicycle. The picture, Snell said, illustrates the spacious quality of Oregon beaches where there is abundant room for riding, swimming, lolling in the sand or surf fishing.

In the past the non-resident permits have featured drawings or in some instances there has been merely the words, "Oregon," together with the year and the designation as an out-of-state visitor. This year's permits have the word "Oregon" in modern printing across the top of the picture, with the inscription "Guest, 1940" in smaller letters on the left side of the sticker.

This is planned as the first of a series of non-resident permits each showing some typical Oregon scene in natural colors. It is believed these stickers will be distinctive to Oregon and will serve to advertise the vacation advantages of the state in other parts of the country.

MANY STUDENTS "ON OWN"

Oregon State College—More than a third of O. S. C. men students and 13 per cent of the co-eds are entirely self-supporting in their attempts to gain a college education, according to records just compiled by Registrar E. B. Lemon. In the student body as a whole, 29 per cent are wholly self-supporting, while only 24 per cent are entirely dependent on parents or others. Nine per cent make one-tenth of their own way, 13 per cent are one-fourth self supporting, 15 per cent are making half their way, and 10 per cent are three-fourths "on their own."

December Recruits Heaviest on Record

Presidio of San Francisco, Jan. 6.—A new peace time record for recruiting was established in the Army's eight-state Ninth Corps Area, comprising the Western states, during the month of December, according to an announcement released today at headquarters Ninth Corps Area. The report shows a total of 1839 enlistments during the month of which 1086 were original enlistments, defeating any previous single month on record.

In reviewing events for the past year, Major Charles C. Quigley, Corps Area recruiting office said for the period July first to December 31 a new record was also set with a total of 9779 enlistments, the largest for any like period since termination of the World war.

Major Quigley said the young man of today does not enlist for the same reasons that his grandfather enlisted. Today the young man joins the colors for the purpose of establishing himself a job, learn a worthwhile and profitable trade and place himself in a place of security.

RECORD CONTINUES

Oregon State College—The moderate increase in registration over a year ago which occurred last fall has continued into the winter term at O. S. C. Early registration after the holidays exceeded that of last year and assured a new high record for the second term at about 4500, said Registrar E. B. Lemon. Totals before the end of the first week were 4270 with many graduate students and others still to enroll. This total included 80 new students entering for the first time.
