

No Hope Seen for Decrease in Taxes

Taxation was the subject of a brief address by J. O. Turner before the Heppner Lions Monday noon luncheon. In view of income tax paying time the subject had direct bearing on the tax situation as it stands today and the speaker passed briefly over the subject from the beginning of taxation to the present day.

Although there appears to be nothing left in this country for the lawmakers to assess new taxes upon, Turner is of the opinion that our taxes will not become smaller. Increasing demands for funds naturally call for new sources of revenue. The lawmakers have shown an uncanny ability to devise new taxes in the past and no doubt will be equally clever in the future, the speaker asserted.

Rumors of removal of the Heppner camp, Civilian Conservation corps, caused former county judge Ralph Bengtson to call for action by the Lions and other civic groups. He pointed to the benefits derived from the conservation practices initiated by the service, stating that the work has been nicely begun and should be carried farther. He also urged some action relative to Bonneville power.

Musical numbers consisted of a clarinet solo by Omar McCaleb, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Huit, and accordion solos by Walter Skuzeski.

Joint Installation At I. O. O. F. Hall

Heppner Oddfellows and Rebekahs held joint installation at the lodge hall Wednesday evening. Following the initiation ceremonies refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed.

Installing officers were Ida Macomber, district deputy president; Cornett Green, deputy grand master; Hattie Wightman and Lee Howell, grand marshalls; Clara Beamer and N. D. Bailey, grand wardens; J. J. Wightman and Leatha Smith, grand secretaries; F. E. Parker and Alice Rasmus, grand treasurers; Ray McAlister and Elizabeth Campbell, grand chaplains; Tom Wells and Millie Doolittle, grand guardians, and Oma Cox, musician.

C. W. Barlow was installed as noble grand of the Oddfellows; Durward, Tash, V. G.; Lester Roundy, warden; C. A. Macomber, conductor; Cornett Green, I. G.; Ernest Hunt, O. G.; Lee Howell, R. S. N. G.; Ralph Beamer, L. S. N. G.; Alex Green, chaplain; Clyde Gardner, R. S. S.; Norton Lundell, L. S. S.; Harold Hill, R. S. V. G.; Tom Wells, L. S. V. G. For the Rebekahs, Neva Wells, N. G.; Harriet Lundell, V. G.; Anna Brown, warden; Mabel Chaffee, conductress; Ida Macomber, R. S. N. G.; Tacie Parker, L. S. N. G.; Margaret Phelps, chaplain; Mary Bailey, I. G.; Lillian Smith, O. G.; Etta Howell, L. S. V. G.; May Gilliam, R. S. V. G., and Verna Hayes, musician.

GRIFFITH CAR UPSETS

Elmer Griffith was brought to Heppner Monday for medical attention following an accident near Ione in which his car left the highway and upset. Griffith was severely shaken up and suffered some painful bruises. Slippery highway caused him to lose control of the car just as he was leaving Ione. The machine first crashed a bridge railing and then hurtled over a low embankment and through a fence before upsetting.

AUXILIARY MEETS

The American Legion auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. E. A. Ferguson Monday evening. The child welfare committee reported that five baskets of food, toys and clothing were given needy families at Christmas time. A report of the district convention at Milton-Free-water was given by Lena Cox and Etta Parker. Heppner unit was the first in the district to report its membership over the top. Three members were initiated at the Monday meeting.

LOST—Saturday evening, antique gold ear ring. Reward. Return to Mrs. Chas. B. Cox.

MORROW COUNTY READY TO ASSIST PARALYSIS FUND

precation of our constantly increasing intensive and extensive effort against this crippling malady. These facts are also used by public health authorities to soothe citizens at those times when the increase of cases of infantile paralysis begin to make frontpage headlines.

"Yet the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is essentially the American People's foundation and as such it is responsible to them. The most skillful propaganda has failed to remove infantile paralysis from its top rank as terrifier of the people. The human insight of fathers and mothers looks through the reassuringly low sickness and death rates displayed to them by our public healthmen. The fact that relatively so few children are killed or lamed by the paralytic terror—that truth is no comfort to parents if their own baby is wrecked for life at life's beginning.

"Even though the incidence of infantile paralysis is low compared to certain other major ills, yet it cannot be dismissed as no serious menace to society. This is what is socially most disturbing about the paralytic plague: crippling relatively few children and young people in any given year, each epidemic adds to an ever mounting accumulation of living human wreckage. From pneumonia after a few days' ordeal you die or get better. From out almost yearly epidemic of infantile paralysis—each one no account statistically—there is a growing totality of tragedy often worse than death. The number of infantile paralysis cripples alive in our land today is not exactly known, but it runs into hundreds of thousands."

ATTEND DEMO BANQUET

A carload of representative Morrow county democrats drove to Portland Sunday where on Monday they attended the Jackson Day dinner. Included in the group were Henry Aiken, Chas. B. Cox, D. M. Ward and Hanson Hughes.
