Four Morrow county students at Eastern Oregon College of Education at La Grande braved the heavy weather of the week end to spend a night with home folks. They were Kathryn Parker and Robert Scrivner of Heppner and Katherine Griffith and Fred Hoskins of Morgan and Rhea creek, respectively. Scrivner learned that his parents had gone to Condon to attend the basketball tournament, so he followed them to that place.

A business visitor from Hardman Saturday was George Hayden. Mr. Hayden returned recently from an extended trip, during which time the campaign for funds for the infantile paralysis foundation was conducted and as chairman of the Hardman district he was unable to conduct the work in that vicinity. For that reason Hardman had nothing to report. Mr. Hayden was ill much of the time he was away.

Visitors in Heppner from Condon Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Misses Ruth and Rose Myers, W. F. Marshall and R. L. Weir. They came to attend the Elks annual ball.

Dr. R. C. Lawrence drove to Portland Tuesday to consult an eye specialist. While reading a paper at Pendleton during the Round-Up last fall, he accidentally cut the eyeball with the edge of the paper. Treatment at that time appeared to heal the cut but recently the eye began giving him trouble and he decided to seek the services of a specialist.

Mrs. W. L. McCaleb suffered a serious heart attack Thursday and was quite ill for several days. Her sister, Mrs. J. P. Special 4-H club awards for work done last year were presented to Peggy Tamblin and Leland Edmondson before the high school assembly Tuesday morning by Mrs. Lucy Rodgers and C. D. Conrad.

A medal was awarded to Peggy Tamblin for winning highest honors for the last four years in the style review contest held in the county at fair time last year. Peggy has been doing outstanding 4-H club work for the last four years and this year is acting as local leader for a younger group of girls.

Youth Says Wheat Fine for Livestock

Declaring wheat to be the equal of corn in topping off livestock, Lura Stephens, winner of the local FFA forensic contest, told Heppner Lions club Monday that farmers and stockmen of the northwest can well make use of surplus wheat stocks by feeding the grain to cattle and hogs.

Strange as it may seem, present price considered, there is a shortage of hogs in the northwest trade territory. It is estimated this shortage is the equivalent of 2,260,000 head when figured in pork products. It was also explained that the northwest trade territory includes the 11 western states, so that the shortage is not confined to a restricted district. Heavy shipments of both live animals and pork products are imported from the middle west where corn is the principal ration while surplus stocks of wheat in the northwest could be used as feed for thousands of hogs.

The speaker contended that a substantial increase in the bushel price of wheat may be obtained by feeding the grain to livestock, and his statement was verified by some of his listeners who have had experience in the business.

Monday's meeting was held at the CCC camp where the Lions dined with the camp personnel. It was demonstrated that the camp has good cooks and that the boys fare nicely. Next meeting will be at Hotel Heppner dining room.

Lioness Marjorie Parker, club accompanist, showed versatility when, in lieu of a piano at the camp, she led the singing with the piano accordion.

Donations to Finns Coming in Slowly

Although the campaign for funds for relief work in Finland started in December, contributions to date have been few, withal generous, according to Dr. R. C. Lawrence, chairman of the campaign for Morrow county. To date a total of $97 has been received at the First National bank, the gift of eight persons.

There has been no concerted effort to get in funds for this purpose and the chairman feels that more attention must be given from now on. There is no doubt about the need for aid in Finland, Dr. Lawrence points out, for the hard pressed little republic is putting up a fight almost unparalleled in history and its people, those at home or back of the lines of battle, are in sore need of food and clothing as well as medical supplies.

Contributors listed so far are A. H. Nelson, Orville Cutsforth, T. W. Rippee, Mrs. Maude Pointer, Eric Bergstrom, Herman Neilson, Heppner Chamber of Commerce and J. J. Nys.
