Air Conditioning Conference March 28

Oregon State College—Dates for the third annual air conditioning conference at O. S. C. have been set for March 28 to 30. This is sponsored as a joint project of the mechanical engineering department at the college and the Oregon chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers.

This year's program will be less technical than those previously held, and will probably be of more interest to men engaged in all branches of the industry than heretofore, says Bryant W. Moore, Portland, chairman of the program committee. One session, devoted to "What Is Air Conditioning?" will be open to the general public.

One session is also devoted to the economics of industry and another to subjects of particular interest to architects. The usual large exhibit of heating and ventilating equipment will again be held in connection with the conference.

Francis Nickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Nickerson, has been selected as a member of Phi Alpha Delta, national legal fraternity. He is a law student at the University of Oregon.
