Control of Earwig
Should Start Now

The earwig already has put in its appearance for 1940, which means that the time to battle it is at hand, reports C. A. Cole, horticulturist with the state department of agriculture plant industry division.

"The best way to control the earwig is through use of the earwig parasites obtainable in this state," he declares.

Thorough clean-up of trash around gardens and sheds and application of standard earwig baits are also recommended.
