FFA Shows Well at Meet

One of the most effective days of the school year for the FFA finally came and has passed. Four cars of boys were taken to Arlington to compete with eight other chapters in many phases of Smith-Hughes and FFA work.

John Lane and Bill Padberg placed first and second, respectively in milk testing. George Davidson and Ralph Taylor took first and second, respectively, in electrical work. Their job was to make an ordinary electric light drop cord. George Davidson placed fourth in the harmonica contest. Claud Drake placed third in grain judging. Bernard Doherty and Jimmy Barratt took second place in their demonstration. Bob Swick took second in forging—not names, either. In the annual public speaking contest Lura Stephens placed second. That about winds up the contest except that I might say that Mr. Bennett had charge of the milk testing department.

Modes of the Day

The Easter bunny really did appear on the 24th in spite of the threatening weather.

Tweeds seem to be popular with both the boys and the girls.

Shirley Wilson was decked out in Clara Adams went in for sport clothes in a big way by wearing a a grey tweed suit. blue plaid tweed jacket with a contrasting dusty rose skirt with the now popular military pockets.

Lois Jones looked very stately in a navy blue tailored suit. With it she wore a white sheer frilly blouse.

Girls, did you see Lowell Ashbaugh Sunday? He wore a green tweed sport coat and green trousers to match. He looked like the breath of spring himself.

Mystery Play to be Given at Boardman

"Mystery at Midnight," a three-act mystery play is to be given by the senior class of Boardman high school on April 12. This promises to be an exciting evening, full of chills, thrills and pleasure. The cast includes Rathburne Wentworth, owner of the house on the hill, Bob McCutchen Mrs. Wentworth, his aunt, Doris Hood; Barbara Cory, an unexpected visitor, Echo Coats; Alma Cory, her aunt, Mardell Gorham; Cloyd Parker, his fiancée, Jack Olson; Dick Lawrence, a young lawyer, Ralph Skoubo; Energine Washington, the housekeeper of the house on the hill, Ruth Kunze; Rasmus Washington, her "smaller half," Bob Miles; Letty Flanders, a small-town flirt, Clara Mae Dillon; Oscar Jansen, the strongest man, Dale Russell.

Mrs. Lucy E. Rogers county school superintendent visited on the project last Wednesday.

Word was received of the marriage of James P. Howell to Miss Lois Beckley on March 14. Miss Beckley is the daughter of Mrs. Emma Beckley of Roseburg and Mr. Howell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Howell of Boardman. The newly married couple stopped here at the latter's home for a few minutes on Sunday March 24 on their way to Portland.

Glenn Kobow and Merle Barnc were here over the week end visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Maude Kobow.

Lyle Tannehill, who is attending the Eugene Vocational school at Eugene was home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wicklander and his daughter, Miss Alice Wicklander, were visitors on the project Friday.

Mardell Gorham, Clara Mae Dillon, Echo Coats and Ralph Skoubo were shoppers in Pendleton Friday and also attend the show, "Gone With the Wind."

Delbert Ship, an electrician from Hermiston, is staying at the home of Mrs. Eva Warner while he is re-wiring some of the homes for the new REA light system.

There was a large all-day FFA meet in Arlington Friday and Boardman took several first prizes. Vernon was first in grain grading; Bob Miles first in forging and harmonica; Melvin Nickerson, first in hog calling and Jack Olson placed fourth in public speaking. The different towns represented were Helix, Pendleton, Boardman, Hepner, Condon, The Dalles, Dufur, Redmond and Arlington.

Leonard Kraft, manager of Bridal Veil Box and Lumber company was a business visitor in the city yesterday evening.

H. M. Hodges, representing the state treasurer's office, was in the county Tuesday looking into inheritance tax cases.

FUND DRIVE NEARLY OVER

A total of $111.50 has been collected for the Blue Mountain council of Boy Scouts, according to the local scout council. Heading the list of subscribers in Hepner is Hepner lodge No. 358, B. P. O. Elks, with a contribution of $25. Business firms and individuals have made up the balance. The goal is $125 and it is expected this amount will be raised within the next few days through contributions from the parents of the scouts. Each contributor is given a membership in the Boy Scout club.
