Public Speaking Plays Stated

The two public speaking plays will be presented May 3, the evening of the May festival. These two plays are hilarious one-act comedies both dealing with detectives and very odd crimes.

The third period class will present a murder mystery, "The Solution," involving a newspaper reporter. The six people who are attending a dinner party suddenly find one of their number apparently dead from an unknown cause. A storm has rendered the electrical and telephone apparatus of the house useless. Lew, the young columnist, takes charge and attempts to unravel the mystery by logical deduction. But a strange man appears to complicate the situation with his irrational remarks.

"The Inkslingers" is presented by the fifth period class and is based on an assumption of each of four writers, all writing different styles of stories, each thinks that a studio has stolen his idea for use in a picture now in production, coincidentally, they all pick the same day to try to get evidence in order to lodge the same complaint at the same studio. On that particular day the scenario of the picture in question has disappeared and the studio is in an uproar. Everyone blames everyone else and four eccentric writers, darting about at unexpected moments in search of evidence, don't help matters any. A detective is hired and a reward offered. Executives decide that on no account must the star, a temperamental German actress, learn that the scenario has disappeared. The four writers suspect each other and then what a mess results.

The characters of "The Solution" are as follows: Jane, Isabell McFerrin; Professor Marian Jordan, Mildred McClintock; Clara, Mary Daly; Marian, Anna Marie; Professor John Holton, Dean Gilman; Lew, Lura Stephens; the strange man, Jackson Cantwell; ????, Don Evans; two policemen, Harry O'Donnell and Francis Bailey.

The cast of the "Inkslinger" is as follows: Miss O'Neill, Mary Eleanor Florence; Max Marshall, Dubby Aiken; Vergil Henry, Norval Osborn; Gloria Gray, Jean Hays; Mark Goldstein, Leslie Pepper; K. Blackmore Wash, Doug Drake; Bob Swick; Minerva Spruce, Laura Warfield; Pinkerton Wolf, Alex Thompson; Bertha Guggenheimer, Pat Doolley.

Up and Down Our Halls

Margaret Doolittle, Howard Wray and Sybil Howell accompanied the band members to La Grande, Friday.

Mr. Blankenship attended the meeting at Irrigon, Friday evening. Edna Stephens was a luncheon guest of Ruth Green, Friday.

A large number of the students attended the free dance at Ione, Saturday.

Modes of the Day

Kingsley Chapin and Lib Healy looked like two co-eds the first of the week in their sport suits. Kingsley's cardigan jacket was blue striped. With it she wore a dusty blue skirt. Lib's cardigan jacket was plaid in pastel colors. With it she wore a dusty rose skirt.

Arleen Noble wore a dusty blue spun rayon princess dress. The front was interesting with its rows of tucks.

Wilma Beymer wore a blue flannel dress with a bustle bow in back. The dainty lace collar and cuffs worn with it made a very chic costume.

Miss Doughty's plaid shirt waist dress of pastel colors received many an admiring glance. The colors were rose, green, blue and grey.

Fashion notes observed while at La Grande:

Snoods worn with everything. They are available in all colors.

Spectator pumps were the favorite dress shoe coming in white trimmed with either black brown or blue.

Dusty rose and blue seemed to be the favorite colors for dresses and suits. They were worn with sheer blouses of white. Sheers were also favorite in rose, blue and peach.

Saddles seem to be the short shoe favorite again this year. A different variety comes with the tie on the side rather than in front.

The anklets play a big part in the sport costume this spring. They are available in all pastel shades to match every costume.

Facts About Our Students

Who is the good natured, energetic girl coming down our hall? Why, it's Frances Wilkinson. Frances was born on October 31 (Halloween), 1923. She is sweet 16 (and never been kissed?).

Frances has crowded several things into her 16 years. She attended school at Heppner until she graduated from the 8th grade then she went one year to St. Mary's academy at Portland where she did very well for herself. She was secretary-treasurer of her freshman class and twice an honor letterman.

Frances is a junior in Heppner high school and is still doing very well. She is a member of the "H" club, tennis team, gossip page in this paper, dramatics for the annual, and was in the operetta and junior play.

She received the scholarship medal last year with five subjects in which she got straight ones.

Her favorite subject is shorthand; favorite teacher, Mr. Buhman; favorite color, blue; favorite book, "Beau Geste"; she likes to sing and her favorite songs are "Stardust" and "Starlit Hour."

Her pet peeve is "pounds." Attention men! Her ideal boy friend must have the following in the order of their importance: personality, sense of humor, courtesy, dancing ability, athletic ability, and good looks.

Her favorite picture is "Good Bye Mr. Chips"; actor, Errol Flynn; actress, Barara Stanwyck; her favorite sport is tennis.

On completing high school she intends to go to O. S. C. to take a commercial course so she can fulfill her ambition which is to be "An Old Maid School Teacher." Her hobby is music.

Condon Typists Capture Honors

Condon high school entries walked off with first place in both divisions of the Central Oregon typing contest held at Irrigon last Friday. Betty Cushman of Condon took first place in the novice division, while top spot in the amateur division was captured by Virginia Lee Weiman of the same school.

Heppner's entry, Jeanette Blakely, took second place in the amateur division, third place going to Eileen Sperry of Ione. Echo Aldrich, Irrigon, was second and Marian Luciano, third, in the novice division.

Awards of gold and silver medals for first and second places were posted by the Gregg Publishing company of Spokane and bronze pins for third places were put up by the Morrow county chapter of the Oregon State Teachers association. Kinman school of Spokane awarded a silver cup to the school making the highest number of points, Condon being the winner. Pennants were presented jointly by the Royal Typewriter company and Morrow county O. S. T. A. to Condon as the school taking first place in both amateur and novice divisions, Irrigon for taking second place in the novice division and Heppner for second place in the amateur division.

Eight high schools entered the contest, including Condon, Ione, Lexington, Boardman, Echo, Umatilla, Heppner and Irrigon.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

The Assembly of God church will be conducting revival services with Rev. R. C. Parrish of Idaho as evangelist, beginning Wednesday night, April 17. Services will be held every evening except Monday at 7:45. There will be special music and timely messages from the word of God. Everyone welcome.

Time gained at a street crossing is very often lost in the Emergency Ward.

Dr. J. P. Stewart, Eye-Sight Specialist of Pendleton will be at the HEPPNER HOTEL on WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24th.

ESTRAYED—Three head Hereford cows, one 2-year-old, brand invisible; two 4-year-olds branded CHC. Anyone knowing of these animals please notify W. C. McClintock, Ione, Ore.

You may smile at safety, but you can't laugh off an accident.
