

'Colorless' Display Explained by Court

Members of the Morrow county court want it understood that they are as patriotic as the rest of the country and that when the United States flag was not displayed on Decoration day there was a good reason. Criticism has been offered by some observing persons and this has been taken in good part by the court. Since the matter has been brought to public attention it is felt that a word of explanation is in order.

Some time ago the court placed an order with a Portland firm for a new flag for the courthouse. The Portland firm could not fill the order and had to send east for a flag. In the meantime, the flag which had been used for several years was considered in too poor condition to raise for Decoration day and the courthouse went flagless that day. A few days later Judge Bert Johnson received an undated, unsigned postcard calling attention to the oversight.

Judge Johnson was out of town last week and before leaving gave orders that the old flag should be unfurled on National Flag day regardless of its condition. This was done and on Monday of this week a nice new 12 x 20 flag arrived. The court promises that there will be no recurrence of the Decoration day episode.

Tom Beymer Injured In Tilt With Horse

Tom Beymer, Hinton creek rancher, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg Monday in an encounter with a fractious horse. The accident happened about 4 o'clock p. m. when Beymer and a hired man attempted to throw the animal for the purpose of trimming its mane and tail. The horse is one that Beymer has had for several years. Each season he has had to re-break the animal as it has been worked for a short period and turned out to pasture. It required an hour or so to get the horse into the corral Monday and having a short lariat Beymer refused to allow the hired man to do the roping, taking the responsibility himself. He looped the rope over the horse's neck and the rope was so short that when the captive reared up he pulled Beymer under him. The man was kicked and trampled resulting in the compound fracture. V. R. Runnion was passing the ranch at the time and brought Beymer to a physician. An examination revealed serious injury to the leg and Beymer was taken to The Dalles for hospital treatment.

BATTERY TERMINALS

All battery connections must be kept clean and tight to prevent starter failure, says the mechanical department of the Oregon State Motor association. Loose or corroded terminals cause most starter trouble.

FLAGS CAN BE CLEANED

Friday, June 14 found Heppner firms observing National Flag day in the usual manner by displaying flags in front of business houses. Attention to this matter so closely adhered to by our citizens is commendable and there is but one flaw in the procedure calling for comment. Some of the flags were badly soiled. No doubt this was an oversight due to infrequent use of the colors and from not having a place for storing them properly. Regardless of the cause, the flags can be cleaned. With the Fourth of July close at hand, would it not be a good idea to try a little cleaning solvent on the flags so that they will more clearly express our appreciation of the things for which the national emblem stands?

L. E. Bisbee and Chas. B. Cox are expected home today from Diamond lake where they spent several days trying to lure the speckled beauties from their mountain retreat.

Game Commission Opposed to Park

Opposition to the creation of the proposed Cascade Ridge National park, extending along the summit of the Cascade range from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, was expressed by the Oregon State Game commission at its last monthly meeting.

The commission voted to concur resolutions previously adopted by the Washington State Sportsmen's council.

Creation of the proposed park would remove control of all wildlife in this area from state control and according to the resolution the proposed action is another step in governmental encroachment upon state rights.

Copies of the resolution are being forwarded to Pacific coast members of congress with the request that the plan be fought vigorously.
