

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—This week end Senator Charles L. McNary will fly to Oregon for his notification ceremonies as republican nominee for vice-president. It will be the first time that the senator has been in a plane for more than 20 years, when he flew in an open crate over the national capital with other togamen. The following day the plane cracked up with several fatalities. The evolution of the plane in 20 years is comparable to the advance from the Model T to the V-8.

Being a dirt farmer and champion of agricultural relief, Senator McNary has selected the Oregon state fair grounds as the location for the notification. The fair grounds in any county or state is the rallying point of farmers; it is not a magnet for city folk; the county or state fair is especially for the farmers, where they meet, talk and view the exhibits. It is a perfect background for a candidate selected because of his knowledge of agriculture and his identification with farm legislation.

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, picked by Mr. Roosevelt to off-set McNary's popularity in the farm belt, will have his notification in his native Iowa following the republican ceremonies at Salem. Despite Wallace's connection with the tall corn state, surveys indicate that Iowa will be in the republican column in November. Only explanation is that "people are voting different this year." Iowa went democratic in 1932 and 1936. Mr. Wallace, as everyone knows, was a republican until shortly before his appointment to the cabinet by Mr. Roosevelt.

In the coming election the new deal and the republicans are fighting for the farm vote. On the face of the returns in 1936 Mr. Roosevelt swept everything but Vermont and Maine, but analysis of the vote in that contest discloses that a few thousand votes properly distributed would have told a different story as to the number of states carried by Mr. Roosevelt. In 1896 Bryan was defeated by McKinley, yet a handful of popular votes scattered suitably would have given Bryan the election. The year Cleveland ran and was defeated he carried the popular vote. It was the big city vote that gave the result to Mr. Roosevelt four years ago, and this year the powerfully organized political machines in the large cities will be in the new deal camp once more. There are no republican political machines, as they expired for lack of patronage.

With the city machines for Mr. Roosevelt, the republicans are striving to increase their strength in the rural areas in the hope of overcoming the metropolitan majorities.

Political observers in the national capital are unanimous in agreeing that events in Europe between now and the end of October will have an important influence in determining the issue between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie. They do not particularize, but state it as a fact. These observers intimate, however, that invasion and seizure of England by Herr Hitler will make Mr. Roosevelt's election for a third term inevitable.

Industrialists in Oregon and Washington employing mechanics are alarmed at the flight of skilled labor to California and Puget Sound, where national defense contracts require mechanics. The increasing shortage as mechanics are tempted away from their present jobs cause plant managers to wonder where they can obtain replacements. They vision in a few months only the older

Coquille Boy Wins Ford Good Driver Contest

Eighteen-year-old Ray Gaulke of Coquille, has been declared Oregon winner in the Ford Good Drivers League contest for 1940. His parents Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Gaulke, of Coquille will accompany him to New York where during the week of August 26, he and 47 other state winners will compete for national prizes totaling $30,000.

mechanics remaining, and while these are competent their years slow them down and they require more time in which to perform a task; and this, of course, increases the cost of production.

It is a situation which may prevent assignment of government orders to Oregon and most of Washington outside of Puget Sound.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, the cowboy who became the most scholarly and Chesterfieldish member of the senate, wrote a prediction as to the identity of the next president last spring, sealed it in an envelope and waited until after the nominating conventions. In the presence of newspaper reporters the forecast was read:

"The next president will have a double letter in his name."

When the senator wrote his prophecy many names were being mentioned. Under his prediction the winner can be either Mr. Roosevelt, with a double "o" or Mr. Willkie, with a double "l." Senator Ashurst is certain to be a true prophet.

When Vice President Garner walked out of the senate chamber and returned to Uvalde, Tex., he planned never to return to Washington. Upper case democrats wrote dozens of letters for him to come back for the sake of the party. Mr. Roosevelt did not write.

More Co-Op Houses Slated at College

Oregon State College—More cooperative houses than ever before will be operated here this year to accommodate students seeking a college education at lowest possible cost. Four men's cooperatives with a combined capacity of close to 100 students will be operated, compared with three last year, and seven women's cooperatives will be in service instead of the five last year, accommodating about 170.

The increased number of women applying for entrance at Oregon State this year brought so many requests for admission to cooperative houses that two new ones have just been arranged. With students doing most of their own work in these houses the cost of board and room does not exceed $20 a month.

E. B. Lemon, registrar, has received many inquiries from men students regarding enrollment in view of the possible national defense demands. In reply he is passing on to them President Roosevelt's recent statement that "it is their patriotic duty to continue the normal course of their education unless or until they are called."

He is also calling attention to the availability of thorough military training in the R. O. T. C. in connection with college work.
