Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Huston arrived home Monday from a visit at Salem with their daughter, Mrs. Mark Taylor, and family, and at Albany with relatives of Mrs. Huston's. They returned across the Santiam pass which they had not seen before. One of the interesting sights of the trip to Mr. Huston was the new courthouse at Albany. Its architecture is similar to that of the new statehouse at Salem, and as well constructed, being fireproof throughout. Especially interesting to Heppner's recorder was the jail on the third story. Built to federal specifications, the jail contains the very latest protective devices with electrically operated doors and cound system that make escape of convicts next to impossible. Albany was found to be in a booming state with two mills and many new houses under construction.

Frank Rumble departed yesterday for Missoula and other Montana points, expecting to enjoy a two weeks' visit amidst old-time surroundings. Mr. Rumble said that when he first visited Missoula in 1897 it was a town no larger than Heppner, though now a sizeable city. He recalled living at Wisdom for several years, and one winter saw the mercury drop to 63 degrees below zero. Havre, at the same time, registered 64 below, substantiating the claims of Havre and Wisdom to being the two coldest places in the United States.

"I enjoyed it a lot," said Earl W. Gordon, local druggist, on returning home Sunday from the San Francisco world fair. Mr. Gordon spent a week taking in the fair and other points of interest in the bay region. That two druggists were of the same idea was indicated by his bumping into W. E. Bullard of Gold Beach, former Ione druggist, on fisherman's wharf where both were seeing the sights.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howell returned home Sunday from a two weeks vacation trip on which they visited Mt. Hood and coast points. Mr. Howell enjoyed a climb of the old mountain from Timberline lodge, and they went deep sea fishing out from Newport as well as fishing in various coast streams.

Mrs. Richard Wells returned home on Wednesday of last week from a stay of several weeks in the San Francisco bay region where she visited relatives and old-time friends, among whom were the Gus Mallory and Arthur Crawford families at San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anglin drove to Seattle Sunday and returned Monday evening accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. John Bromley, who now resides in Seattle, and Mrs. George Baxter, formerly Ireta Taylor, who lives at Bremerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith and son Jim returned home Monday evening from Naches, Wash., where they visited at the home of Mr. Smith's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mahoney made a week-end trip to the Innaha river in Wallowa county to fish and hunt in company with Mr. and Mrs. Finley Graybeal of Pendleton.

R. L. Ekleberry and son Dean of Morgan were business visitors in the city Tuesday, Mr. Ekleberry being much improved in health since his recent operation.

Max Schulz took Horace Yoakum to his home in the timber the first of the week and saw a fawn deer near the roadside.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray P. Kinne took a Labor day holiday trip to Enterprise and Wallowa lake.

Miss Evelyn Schulz of Portland visited over the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schulz, and with other members of the family enjoyed a trip to the mountains for the first time in four years. Miss Schulz is working in a bakery in the city. Her sister, Erma, recently announced her marriage to John Erickson of Portland.

Mrs. Mae Dickinson and daughters, Della Mae and Irene Irwin of Walla Walla, and Mrs. Gladys Garner of Hermiston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Ball the first of the week, enjoying a visit with old-time friends.

Stella Bailey of Portland was a business visitor in the city last week end, enjoying a visit with old-time friends while here.

Mrs. Truman Babb and Mrs. J. V. Crawford and sons Dick and Jim arrived home last night from a 10-day trip to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Belanger of Moro were overnight visitors in the city Tuesday night, leaving for home Wednesday morning.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Hughes at the home of Mrs. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bailey, on Tuesday, a 10 pound daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Spulnik and Mr. and Mrs. William Henry of Portland were Labor day guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Skuzeski.

Control of Rabies Could Be Quite Easy

No disease could be so easily controlled as rabies if the right methods were made compulsory, Dr. W. H. Lytle of the state department of agricultural animal division declares in an article in the current agriculture bulletin.

Sentiment makes an effective program difficult, he points out, adding that "until people are willing to obey and comply with quarantines, all must endure the danger and inconvenience of rabies."

Under existing circumstances, the most effective control methods are early reporting, restraining, gathering up of stray dogs and double vaccination.

Four Localities to Vote on S. C. Districts

Landowners in four Oregon localities will decide during September whether to form soil conservation districts under the terms of the enabling act passed by the last legislature, announces W. L. Teutsch, assistant director of the O.S.C. extension service and secretary of the state Soil Conservation committee.

Only one such district has been formed since the passage of the act, the South Tillamook district, put into operation last April. The four additional proposed districts are in Clatsop, Baker and Klamath counties. Residents in each petitioned the state committee for the formation of a legal district by which to carry out organized erosion control or other soil conservation work.

The state committee, composed of Robert Warren, Forest Grove, chairman; G. W. Franklin, Enterprise; Charles E. Stricklin, Salem; Dean Wm. A. Schoenfeld and Teutsch, Corvallis, held hearings in each locality following receipt of the petitions. The committee recently passed all four districts as feasible and arranged for referendum elections as required by law.

To organize such a district a majority of the landowners representing at least 70 per cent of the area included must vote in favor of the plan. Those owning at least 10 acres within the district are entitled to vote.

Two Clatsop county districts are proposed. One is the Warrenton Dune Soil Conservation district including the area bounded roughly by Gearhart, Warrenton and Fort Stevens. The election will be held September 17 at the Warrenton city hall, 6 to 9 p. m.

The Necanicum river district, aimed at stream bank control, extends along the Necanicum river from Seaside to the junction of the Coast and Wolf Creek highways. The election will be September 24 on the Lew Weathers farm, 7 to 9 p. m.

In Baker county a proposed Keating soil conservation district takes in most of the lower Powder river watershed for a general improvement program. Voting will be September 17 at Blue Mountain school, Sparta Grange and Keating school 1 to 4 p. m.

A proposed Langell valley district in Klamath county includes all of the Langell valley and Willow valley irrigation districts. The election will be September 17 at the Langell val-

Argentine Will Take Potatoes from Oregon

Misinformation which led Argentine to include Oregon in its list of places from which potatoes would not be accepted on account of tuber moth has apparently been corrected, Congressman Walter M. Pierce has wired the state department of agriculture which asked that an investigation be made into the why of the quarantine against Oregon potatoes. Oregon does not have and has never had tuber moth, agricultural officials point out. Seed potatoes from Klamath county comprise the bulk of the shipments from Oregon to the Argentine.
