

SOCIETY CHIT-CHAT

By JUNE SMITH

September brings the first fall meetings of many of the organizations and clubs in Heppner.

The Music Club held its first meeting of the season Tuesday evening at the home of its president, Mrs. J. O. Turner. Group singing was conducted, and the program for the year presented and approved. American music will be the subject for this year.

Next Monday evening the American Legion Auxiliary will meet at the home of its president, Mrs. W. O. Bayless. Plans for the coming year will be made.

The Woolgrower's Auxiliary will meet for luncheon and business this Friday at Lucas' Place at 1:15, according to the president, Mrs. Phil Mahoney. Cards will be played following the business meeting.

The Commercial Club held its monthly meeting at Lucas' Place Wednesday evening, where the members met for dinner first.

Many folks took advantage of the last summer holiday to take trips over Labor day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kinne and son spent the week end at Wallowa Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Mahoney, in company with Mrs. Mahoney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hiatt of Pendleton, were also at Wallowa Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Howard spent the double holiday in Portland, visiting relatives.

Mr. Del Ward and sister, Mrs. J. J. Nys, spent the Labor day at Lone Rock where they visited their mother, Mrs. Morgan Ward and sister, Mrs. George McLaughlin.

Bobby Swick arrived this week end at the home of Mrs. W. O. Bayless, where he will live this winter and attend school here.

Mrs. Frank Wilkinson and Mrs. W. O. Bayless spent Wednesday at Pendleton.

Mrs. Charles Cox and Mrs. Earl Evans, delegates from Heppner, are attending the state convention of the American Legion Auxiliary at Seaside. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Swick of Monument are also at the convention.

Mr. Ted Thompson, son of Anna Q. Thompson, was called to Seattle Tuesday to enter into the aviation service.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dick entertained house guests over Labor day week end. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lundstrom and Mr. Clem Adsitt of Lewiston, Idaho, who arrived Friday and left for their home Monday. The party made a trip to Opal Butte during their visit.

In honor of Mr. Harold Buhman's birthday, Mrs. Buhman gave a dinner party Saturday evening at which Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett and Mr. Kenneth McKenzie and mother, Mrs. A. McKenzie, were guests. The McKenzies have returned to Heppner for the school term, after spending the summer at De Lac.

Mr. and Mrs. James Driscoll (Bobby Fortner), returned to Heppner Saturday, and are making their home at the Wells Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Becket and son Paul of Wallowa spent the week end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Thompson and Mrs. Daisy Shively.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ball entertained Mrs. Charles Irwin and two children of Walla Walla over Labor day at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McNamer are planning a family reunion at their home this Sunday. Mrs. Lucy Rogers will assist with the dinner and preparations. Out of town guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barker and children of Spokane and

I.E.W. Association Meets October 9

Walla Walla.—How the Columbia and Snake river waterway may be utilized as an adjunct to national defense will be the theme of the seventh annual convention of the Inland Empire Waterways association which will be held in Lewiston, Idaho, October 9.

The meeting has added significance states Charles Baker of this city, association president, in particular for the people of the Lewiston area and the Palouse country by reason that improvements on the Columbia river have been completed and work is now starting at the mouth of the Snake river on deepening and widening its channel.

"All efforts now are being directed toward securing an improved channel to Lewiston at the earliest possible date," Baker says. "Funds in sufficient amount have been secured for this year's operation to insure full 12 months surveys and dredging work on the Snake river."

The theme of the convention will be in tune with the issues of the day and will concentrate on the advantages of the Columbia and Snake river waterway as an adjunct to national defense. The national administration has tied Bonneville and Grand Coulee together and all thoughts now are being directed toward the utilization of power from these two great projects for strategic industrial utilization. This will mean a speed-up of industrial war industries and the additional movement of raw materials in and out of the territory which can and should be moved by water transportation, it was added.

Speakers of national reputation will be on the program covering various aspects of the national defense program, Herbert G. West, executive vice president of the Waterways association stated.

A joint meeting will be held at noon of the convention date with the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs of Lewiston. At night a banquet will be held in the Lewis-Clark hotel open to the public.

Another item of importance to be discussed at the meeting will be the Wheeler-Lea transportation bill. This legislation is held of major importance to the proponents of the Columbia and Snake river program whether or not it is still under discussion at that time or if it has been enacted into law.

J. B. Campbell of Spokane, former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and legal counsel for the Waterways association, will lead the discussion on the Wheeler-Lea bill.

Officers of the Waterways association in addition to Baker and West are:

Ladru Barnum of The Dalles, vice president for Oregon; J. W. Shepard of Lewiston, vice president for Idaho; Jay Perry of Kennewick, vice president for Washington; Halsey W. Burgess of Walla Walla, treasurer.

STATE FAIR NEARS FINISH

A special children's day program Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, editors' day activities Saturday and three big programs Sunday will bring the 79th state fair at Salem to a close. Judging has been completed in all but the youth divisions and crowds have been enjoying an exceptionally fine fair, says word from Salem. The great finals will come Sunday night with the last presentation of the All-American revue, an outstanding entertainment feature.

Ed Chinn returned home yesterday from a business trip to Portland.
