WILLOWS GRANGE NEWS

Morrow Pomona Has Interesting Meeting

By MARY LUNDELL
Morrow County Pomona grange met at Lena on Saturday, Oct. 5th. The host grange proved its hospitality with two sumptuous meals served to some fifty or more persons.

Some of the Pomona official family will have to visit the Lena grange more often so that they may learn the road. We are not telling who got lost, but there were more than one who turned to the left instead of the right.

Dr. Carl Thompson, member of Russellville grange in Multnomah county was the guest speaker on the lecturer's program. Dr. Thompson is not only an able speaker but very entertaining as well. He held the attention of both young and old during his discourse on electric power, its uses in the business world, on the farm and in the home. L. R. Rambo, coordinator for the local REA project and O. L. Lundell, one of the REA directors, presented pictures and told something of the local set-up.

Entertaining numbers were presented by the subordinate granges of the county, including vocal selections, several readings and recitations and a stunt which included several of the dignitaries.

A letter of greeting and much information from Walter Pierce was read and all appreciated hearing from an old grange member and friend.

The Oregon state grange sponsored, during the canning season, a contest with sugar as its basis, thus advertising an Oregon product.

The display from Morrow County grangers was judged by the home economics instructor from Heppner schools and Mrs. Lucy Rodgers.

First, second and third prizes in the various departments receive 50, 25 and 10 pound sacks of the sugar. The first prize jars will be sent to state grange headquarters where final judgment will be made on October 21st.

The lucky few from Morrow county Pomona were: 1st in canned-fruit, Geneva Palmer; 2nd in canned-fruit, Geneva Palmer; 3rd for canned-fruit, Faye Finch; 1st for preserves, Mary Lundell; 2nd for preserves, Faye Finch; 1st for jelly, Faye Finch.

Next year the contest will probably be featured again and we trust that many more will enter. The state prizes are quite valuable and include an electric stove, refrigerator, and other equally valuable electric equipment.

The county tax question was subject of much discussion. The subordinate granges are urged to appoint a tax and assessment committee, the purpose to help come to an equalization and lowering of taxes. The Pomona committee will meet sometime during October.

The next Pomona meeting will be held the first Saturday in January at Willows grange hall, with Willows grange as hosts, and Lexington grange exemplifying, the degree work.
