Jim Conley, in charge of construction work being done on the Parker-Eight Mile road, doesn't feel that he is a stranger in Heppner. In 1923 he played on the local baseball team, being imported from Portland along with Freddie Roberts and Chappie King, battery. He says that the local people took their baseball pretty seriously then. He remembered that a number of times, when the team was in a tight spot and he was at bat, a fan would wave a ten dollar bill under his nose and shout, "It's yours if you will only hit this one." But in such a case he could never quite manage to connect with the elusive pellet.

E. L. Gardiner and Roy Landon of the state highway department were guests at Hotel Heppner this week. They are in charge of right-of-way work. Mr. Gardiner has occupied the position since the death of the late D. C. Wells, pioneer resident of Heppner, and Mr. Landon will have charge of the territory from now on.

Elmer F. Peterson, district manager at Portland for a leading insurance company, was in the city Monday evening with his brother Henry of Eight Mile, coming to the old home town in time for opening of the pheasant season. Mrs. Peterson and daughter accompanied him to the county for a visit of several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christenson of Portland were hunting guests of Logie Richardson the opening day of pheasant season. Mr. Richardson and Mr. Christenson have missed few years in the last thirty hunting together, and the old cronies enjoyed a renewal of their favorite pastime.

4715 OSC Students Is All-Time Record

Oregon State College—The largest registration in its 73 years of existence was recorded at the college last week when 4715 students had enrolled. This is the first time that fall term registration has ever passed 4700 and is an increase of about 3 per cent over last year, according to Registrar E. B. Lemon.

New students, including those transferring from other colleges and freshmen, numbered 1923, 11 per cent more than a year ago. A 6 per cent increase among freshmen brought their number to 1591. Women students showed an increase of 7 per cent, numbering 1636, compared with 3079 men.

Amateur Athletic Club to Provide Variety of Sports

Bauman Heads Organization Backed By Civic Groups

Heppner Amateur Athletic club was launched at the Lucas Place last evening on authority of city of Heppner, Lions, Elks and Odd Fellows whose delegated representatives named C. J. D. Bauman, president; Maurice Shepard, vice-president; Albert Schunk, secretary-treasurer, and P. W. Mahoney, Harvey Miller, Lee Howell, Jap Crawford and L. D. Tibbles, executive committeemen.

A tentative program of activity was discussed, which will include sports for both men and women. Organization of a volley ball league is expected in the near future. Badminton will be available for women, boxing and wrestling for the men, with tumbling and weight lifting to come later, as well as other sports for which there may be a demand.

Maurice Shepard, former boxing coach at Oregon State college and educational director at Camp Heppner, CCC, was named matchmaker for a smoker tentatively set for November 9. Proceeds from this event will be used to provide equipment.

Definite action was not taken on all details of organization, but it was the consensus opinion of officers present that a small membership fee would be charged to defray necessary overhead costs.

The swimming pool building has been turned over to the club by the city for use as a gymnasium and hall for staging smokers. The club, however, must stand the cost of lights, heating and other incidentals of operation.

A schedule of use is expected to be formulated in the near future, tentative plan being to allot hours when CCC boys, women and town men may use the plant. It was suggested that one night be set aside for mixed use of men and women in playing volley ball or badminton.

President Bauman pointed out that organization of the athletic club is in line with one part of the national defense program which sets out a planned program of physical culture throughout the country to make stronger bodies among youths of the nation as well as to build up the physical stamina of the people generally.
