

SOCIETY CHIT-CHAT

By JUNE SMITH

Of interest to everyone here concerned with the sheep industry is the National Wool Growers convention to take place in Spokane next week, beginning January 21. There will be business meetings both mornings and afternoons for the men's organization and the auxiliaries. Mrs. Ralph Thompson reports an interesting program for the ladies, and states that she hopes as many members as possible will be able to attend.

The first morning meeting the national officers of the organization will speak. In the afternoon the ladies will be entertained with a reception and tea, and in the evening an informal cocktail hour followed by dancing will be held in the Davenport hotel. Wednesday the ladies of the Washington auxiliary will be hostess at a luncheon at the Davenport hotel, and in the evening a banquet, floor show and dance will be given. Thursday the ladies will be entertained at lunch, and Friday, the weather permitting, a trip to Coulee Dam is planned for the visitors. Among the members in Heppner planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cohn, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Pinckney, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Barratt.

Among the Heppnerites seen in Portland last week in attendance at the PCI livestock meeting Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Barratt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilkinson, Dave Hynd and E. R. Schaffer.

Mrs. Charles Cox was hostess to her contract club at her home last Saturday afternoon. Following dessert, two tables of cards were in play, with Mrs. Fred Lucas winning high score and Mrs. L. E. Dick, consolation. Those present were Mrs. L. E. Bisbee, Mrs. Harriet Mahoney, Mrs. C. W. McNamer, Mrs. W. E. Pruyne, Mrs. Lucas and Mrs. Marcellus Morgan and Mrs. Dick were guests of the club for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thomson, Jr., drove to Portland Monday morning, returning the next day.

Mr. Harold Cohn attended the Idaho state wool growers meeting held at Pocatello this week.

The Bookworms met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. W. McNamer with ten present. Mrs. Margaret McNeill reviewed the book, "Oliver Wiswell," by Kenneth Roberts, a story of the American revolution told from the Tory standpoint. She also read reviews of the book from Time and the New York Times. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

A large number of members enjoyed the ladies night at the Elks club last Thursday. Five tables of bridge were in play by the ladies while the men held their lodge session, as well as two tables of pinochle. Mrs. Harriet Lundell and Mrs. Earl Blake acted as hostesses, and the prizes were won by Mrs. William Bennett, high for bridge, Mrs. Richard Lawrence, second, and Mrs. Agnes Curran, high for pinochle, with Mrs. Cason, second. Dancing followed the card play, and the evening ended with an oyster stew dinner.

The American Legion Auxiliary met Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Anna Bayless. The Americanism contest is scheduled to start soon in the schools, according to plans made at the meeting. Miss Vale, the county school nurse, organized her class of practical home nursing, which is to be held at Mrs. Bayless' home every Tuesday and Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 for three weeks, starting tomorrow. Everyone interested in taking this course is invited to attend.

The Episcopal Auxiliary is planning a social evening for the 23rd of this month, with the entire families of all those interested in the auxiliary, church or Sunday school

Miss Shirley Wilson was pledged this week to the Pi Beta Phi sorority at University of Oregon at Eugene.

Etta Parker was installed as the new worthy matron at the joint installation held last Friday night by the Masons and Ruth chapter of the Eastern Star. Other officers installed are Ella Benge, associate worthy matron; Archie Ball, worthy patron; Walter Luckman, associate worthy patron; Sara McNamer, secretary; Virginia Turner, organist; Gertrude Parker, chaplain; Rose Liebrand, treasurer; Doris Ball, marshal; Annie Schaffer, conductress; Emma Evans, associate conductress; Sadie Parrish, Ada; Neva Wells, Ruth; Jeanette Browning, Esther; Flora Nys, Martha; Esther Howard, Electra; Anna Bayless, warder, and J. O. Turner, sentinel. Fay Ferguson was installing officer, Hazel Vaughn installing marshal, Jessie Pruyne installing chaplain, and Virginia Turner installing organist. These officers were presented plants for their services.

Mrs. Lena Cox presented the incoming matron, Mrs. Parker, with a beautiful basket of yellow chrysanthemums in behalf of the retiring matron, Madge Thomson. Mrs. Parker presented corsages to all of her officers and Robert Wightman and Madge Thomson, retiring worthy patron and matron, were given past patron and matron jewels and presented gifts by the officers. Mrs. McNamer received a gift for her services as acting secretary.

A delectable turkey dinner was served to 175 persons before the ceremony. Cora Mae Ferguson and Lucille Wilson were in charge of the tables, which were attractively decorated with gourds, some of which were wrapped in bright cellophane, and tall tapers burning.

The installation of Thomas J. Wells as worshipful master of the Masons took place immediately following the dinner, and preceding the Eastern Star installation. Other officers installed were Hanson Hughes, senior warden; Ray McAlister, junior warden; John Wightman, senior deacon; George Howard, junior deacon; R. C. Wightman, chaplain; Clyde Gardner, tiler; Harold Stevens, senior steward; A. C. Ball, junior steward; J. O. Turner, secretary, and Frank S. Parker, treasurer. The installing officer was Frank Parker, with J. O. Turner, installing marshal.

Mrs. Garnet Barratt will entertain her contract club, "What's Trumps," at her home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Pinckney were hosts to the Kennel club at their home last Saturday evening. Three tables of contract bridge were in play, with high score for the ladies won by Mrs. William Bennett and high for the men by Dr. L. D. Tibbles. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of play.

The Wednesday bridge club met at Mrs. Garnet Barratt's yesterday for a dessert bridge. High score was won by Mrs. Steve Thompson and second by Mrs. Orville Smith.

Mrs. Frank Wilkinson entertained her duplicate club at Mrs. Anna Bayless' home yesterday at a dessert bridge. On the winning team were Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Kinne, Mrs. Merrill and Mrs. Buhman.

WELFARE GROUP BUSY

The child welfare committee of American Legion Auxiliary, Heppner post No. 87, has had a very busy winter thus far. The committee has held many sewing meetings at which 24 "nightengales" were made to be used when the children's clinics are held, and members of the auxiliary have assisted at these clinics. In December money and gifts were sent to the state child welfare chairman for distribution, and Christmas boxes were prepared and distributed to local ex-service men's families. Also, large quantities of clothing have been given out and still are being distributed to children and the auxiliary desires to thank those who have contributed so many good, acceptable articles and desires especially to thank the M. D. Clark store and the Curran Dress shop. Members are also giving a great deal of their time knitting children's sweaters, and making children's dresses for the Red Cross.
