Amateur Program All Set for Tomorrow

Bring your pencils Friday night when you come to the amateur hour which the Camp Fire Girls are sponsoring at the Heppner school gymnasium. The amateurs start their performance at 8, and after their part of the program is finished the audience will be asked to select the winners by marking ballots. Prizes are offered to contestants in four divisions—vocal, dancing, instrumental, and varieties. A sweepstakes prize will be awarded to the contestant receiving the largest number of votes.

While the ballots are being counted a team of Camp Fire Girls will vie with a team of Boy Scouts for a cash award in a quiz bee. Four girls and four boys will represent their respective organizations in the question answering.

Mayor J. O. Turner will act as master of ceremonies for the quiz program, and there will be several judges to check upon the value of the answers and to rate the teams. A number of contestants are polishing up their entry numbers so that they will be in top form for the amateur contest.

The Camp Fire Girls will devote proceeds to their summer camp fund.

Heppner now boasts two groups of Camp Fire Girls. The Nokomis group, organized early last year, includes girls from the seventh grade up to sophomores in high school, and has 14 active members. Mrs. Edwin Dick, Jr., is their guardian.

The Sacajawea group, formed last fall, has ten members in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades. Miss Neva Neill is the leader.

The Nokomis group is sponsoring Friday's program; the Sacajawea group plans to sell home-made candy at that time. Persons not already having tickets may obtain them from Camp Fire Girls or at the door Friday night.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross of this city at the home of Mrs. Corda Saling, yesterday, a 7½ pound son.

SOCIETY CHIT-CHAT

By JUNE SMITH

Mrs. J. H. Key of Weston, mother of Mrs. Clarence Rosewall, was a week-end visitor at the Rosewall home.

Miss Hazel Ball of Baker, sister of Mrs. Frank Wilkinson, visited with the Wilkinsons last week end.

Mrs. C. C. Conrad of Imbler, who has been visiting at her son's home for a week, was driven to her home last Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Conrad.

Mr. and Mrs. William Benett spent last week end in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Mahoney, accompanied by Mrs. Mahoney's mother, Mrs. George Hyatt of Pendleton, drove to Portland last Thursday, returning Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Thompson drove Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson to Portland last Friday, where Mr. Thompson, Sr., entered Emanuel hospital. Mrs. Thompson remained with him, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Thompson returned to Heppner.

Harold Cohn left Wednesday morning by plane from Pendleton for Denver, where he will attend a lamb market committee meeting.

Earle Bryant went to Portland Saturday where he entered a hospital for medical observation. Mrs. Bryant left Wednesday to meet him and they are expected home in a few days.

Mrs. Charles Cox returned to her home Sunday evening from Portland, where she recently underwent an operation. She was accompanied to Heppner by Mrs. Estes Morton of Newberg. Mrs. Morton returned to Portland Monday evening with Clair Cox. Mrs. O. Burroughs of Portland, sister-in-law of Mrs. Cox, is at home with her.

The Woolgrowers auxiliary will meet at the Lucas Place for luncheon, Friday, at 1:15 p. m. Mrs. Raymond Ferguson and Mrs. Harold Cohn will be hostesses. Mrs. Cohn will give a paper on "Wool and the Defense Program, and the Labelling of Products Act of 1939."

The Episcopal guild will have a window food sale Saturday morning from 10:30 to 1 at Hughes grocery store.

Mrs. Jap Crawford entertained the Wednesday club at her home yesterday at dessert bridge. High score was won by Mrs. Raymond Ferguson and second by Mrs. Harold Buhman.

We've aprons to sell says the Ladies Aid
All pretty, and lovely and new,
And if you will come and see what we have
We'll serve you some good tea,
too,
We've plenty on hand for one
and all,
So come, bring a friend with you,
too,
And you will be happy you asked her to come
For She'll want an apron, 'tis true.

Police Chief Switched As Hayes Leaves

The smiling, genial face of Pat Mollahan, whose daily trips with the delivery wagon for many years have made him a familiar figure to everyone in Heppner, took on a slightly more serious and determined mien this week as it appeared beneath the patent-leather bill of the blue policeman's cap, and above the polished star of the city's chief law enforcement officer.

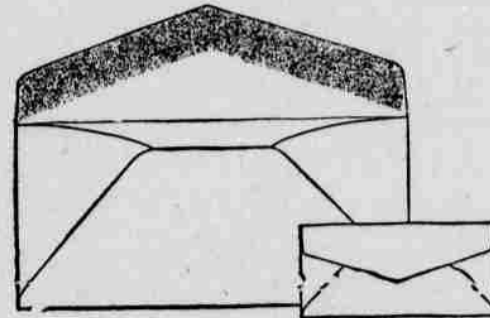

Mr. Mollahan was this week inducted into the chief of police office as successor to Homer Hayes, who resigned to accept a position as guard at the ordnance depot near Hermiston as an agent of Uncle Sam. Also taking guard positions there are Marion Saling, Bob Burnside and Robert A. Jones, the latter just resigned as clerk of the local school district.

City officials feel fortunate that Mr. Mollahan would accept the city office, as his wide acquaintanceship and popularity are expected to gain widespread cooperation from everyone in the community.

BUILDINGS PROGRESS

The buildings of J. O. Peterson, F. W. Turner and Burl Coxen being constructed between the Masonic building and postoffice on Main street were plastered this week and fronts made ready for stuccoing. Completion is expected within the next two weeks, when the business of each of the men will be moved to the new locations.
