

SOCIETY CHIT-CHAT

By JUNE SMITH

The excitement of graduation and the ending of school days fills the air. Of greatest interest to the younger generation was the banquet and junior-senior prom held last Saturday evening. The banquet was held at 6:30 at the Parish House with ladies of the Episcopal auxiliary serving the dinner. The decorations were most attractive, featuring the class blue and white colors. Streamers of crepe paper ran down the tables, with bunches of pansies and baskets of iris adding gaiety. In front of the speaker's table a large HHS was placed. Calvin Crawford acted as toastmaster, with comments given by Alden Blankenship, Robert Knox, Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, Hugh Crawford, Charles Barlow, Miss Leta Humphreys, Charles Jones and Claude Snow, newly elected student body president. The program consisted of a solo by Patty O'Hara, one by James Kenny, a trio by Peg Tamblin, Patty O'Hara and Dorothea Wilson, and presentation of the key to Calvin Crawford by Dubby Aiken. Patrons and patronesses for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Aiken and Mrs. Lera Crawford.

The prom was pronounced one of the most beautiful and successful ever given here. The decorations were based on a Hawaiian motif, with the gym decorated to resemble the terrace of the Royal Hawaiian hotel. Blue and white crepe paper made a false ceiling, while the walls were enhanced by panels by Mildred Clary and Claudine Drake representing Hawaiian scenes. A large outrigger canoe was drawn up on the "beach," and outdoor furniture was placed around the walls. The bandstand was made to resemble a hut, with music supplied by the "Men About Town." Mary Eleanor Florence was queen of the prom, and was escorted in by Hugh Crawford, student body president. Hawaiian girls served punch, and two songs were offered by the girls trio.

The graduation exercises of the eighth grade class were held at the gymnasium Tuesday evening. Invocation was pronounced by Rev. James Wilkins, and the address given by J. O. Turner. Mrs. Lucy Rodgers presented diplomas to the 16 graduates, and Mrs. Harry Tamblin presented the American Legion Americanism awards. First place for the girls was given to Jean Turner, with Marylou Ferguson and Kathryn Howell tied for second, while Ted Ferguson received first for the boys, and Raymond French, second. Class songs were sung, with Patty Kenny presenting the song for which her words were selected.

A prom for the young graduates followed, with music furnished by the high school members of the band.

Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Guild of Snohomish, Wash., arrived last Friday for a visit with Mrs. Guild's mother, Mrs. C. C. Patterson. Mr. Guild returned to his home Monday, while Mrs. Guild and two children will remain for several weeks.

A tea was held in the music room at the school last Monday for mother's of next year's first grade class. Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, Miss Neva Neill, Mrs. J. O. Turner, Mr. Alden Blankenship and Mrs. Gene Ferguson spoke to the mothers regarding the preparation of the child for school. Home economics girls supervised a party given the youngsters by members of this year's first graders.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomson, Jr., are expected to arrive in Heppner tomorrow. Mr. Thomson left the 11th to join Mrs. Thomson and daughter in Portland, where they arrived after spending several months with Mrs. Thomson's mother in Hawthorne, Cal.

Encouragement Given REA Cooperative

All possible cooperation will be given by its administration to bring Bonneville power to the Mid-Columbia Electric Co-op, REA cooperative, said Henry Baker, co-op president following a conference with Bonneville officials in Portland last Friday. E. E. Rugg, secretary-treasurer, and Victor Rietmann, a director of the co-op, accompanied Mr. Baker. A short hearing before Paul J. Raver, Bonneville administrator, and a lengthy conference with other officials assured the local men that every effort would be made to work out a feasible plan for delivering Bonneville power to the "A" part of the local project, including Morrow and Gilliam counties, as soon as lines require energy. The "B" portion of the project in Wheeler and Grant counties is also included in this plan, said Mr. Baker, and it is hoped to resume development of REA in this area in the near future. Final approval from Bonneville is expected within a few days. Despite efforts the local project was unable to present project maps and data to Washington in time for allotment of 1940 funds, Mr. Baker said. An allotment for construction may be coming soon after July 1, when the next appropriation is available, provided the requirements are met. It has first been required that all thin taps from main lines must be deleted unless member or members so located are willing to finance cost of constructing the line in excess of one mile per customer. REA will build one mile per customer toward any customer leading off the main line, and entitles each customer so served to the same low minimum as customers who can be served under the mile-per-customer limitation. Secondly, REA has conditioned allotment upon securing a reasonable and adequate power supply, which inspired the conference last Friday. In a later announcement this morning Mr. Baker said that 65 per cent of the tangent signers so far expressing themselves are in favor of standing the extra cost of line construction to their places. Mr. Baker urges all signers to return questionnaires at once as the Washington office is awaiting the information.

Swimming Hole at Scout Camp Proposed

Resurrection of the mill pond at the old Herren mill as a swimming and boating facility of the Boy Scout summer camp is included in the scout program as told to the Monday Lions luncheon by C. D. Conrad. The summer camp will be held June 2-8, and Lions decided to have one member of the club visit the camp each day. Boy Scouts offered services to assist the community auction sale next Saturday, Conrad said. Lions scout sponsors, will assist in obtaining construction of the necessary dam to make the swimming hole at the camp possible. Mrs. Juanita Carmichael, teacher in the Lexington school, presented the high school girls quartet in vocal selections and a grade school girls trio in two dancing numbers as a special entertainment feature of the Monday luncheon at Lucas Place.
