

SOCIETY CHIT-CHAT

By JUNE SMITH

Our busy and popular National Wool Growers Auxiliary president, Mrs. Ralph Thompson, was off again Monday for another business trip. This time she went first to Portland, then to Boise and back to La Grande for the Oregon State Wool Growers convention being held there from the 8th to the 10th. Other members who plan to attend this convention from Heppner are Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Pinckney and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Thompson.

Returning only a few days before Christmas from a three weeks' trip taken in behalf of the woolgrowers work, Mrs. Ralph Thompson was home only long enough to enjoy the holidays with her family and attend a local woolgrowers auxiliary meeting before starting out again. Her last trip, on which she left the latter part of November, took her to Chicago first, where she attended the meetings of the 4-H club convention, and was the guest of Mr. Noble chairman of national 4-H club work. Some of the highlights of the visit included a luncheon and the unveiling of O. M. Plummer's picture. The stock show was attended, and Mrs. Thompson was given seats in the Union Stock Yards box for the horse show, and enjoyed seeing more than 1500 4-H club youngsters march into the arena, representing every state in the Union except California and Pennsylvania. Mrs. Thompson says, "It gives one a feeling of security to know that over one and one half million boys and girls were engaged in club projects in 1941. We know that is a sound foundation for good citizenship in our country."

Mrs. Thompson spoke before a leader's meeting of this convention. She then left for Texas where she visited at Fort Stockton, and attended the convention in Del Rio, where she talked before the men and women attending the state meeting. On her return home, she came by way of Los Angeles.

The Morrow County Wool Growers auxiliary met last Friday at the Lucas Place for luncheon and business. Twenty-three members were present. Delegates elected to attend the state convention to be held this week in La Grande were Mrs. B. C. Pinckney, president, and Mrs. Stephen Thompson. Mrs. Harry Duvall was selected to represent the organization on a committee headed by Mrs. Lucy Rodgers to register the woman power of the county. An interesting book review by Mrs. Floyd Jones of "No Life for a Lady" by Agnes Morley Cleveland was read, and a "white elephant" exchange was held.

The Eastern Star Social club held its first meeting of the year last Saturday at the club rooms in Masonic hall. Mrs. David Wilson and Mrs. W. C. McCarty were hostesses. New officers elected were Mrs. Clarence Rosewall, president; Mrs. Loyal Parker, vice president, and Mrs. David Wilson, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Anna Bayless won a door prize and Mrs. A. D. McMurdo was high at bridge with Mrs. J. J. Nys receiving consolation.

Most of the Elks members took advantage of the grand opening of the newly remodeled Elks hall to celebrate New Years eve there. A card party for the ladies was held in the newly decorated and furnished ladies' room, with Mrs. Frank Wilkinson high at bridge, Mrs. Mark Merrill second, and Mrs. Sam Turner high at pinocle. The prizes were books of defense stamps.

During intermission the Exalted Ruler, J. G. Barratt held a drawing and distributed other prizes of defense stamps, which were given in place of favors for the dance. Refreshments by the club were served throughout the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Frank Alfred of Fort Lewis, Wash., arrived in Heppner Tuesday evening to be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Bryant for a few days. Several tables of bridge were played at the Lucas Place Wednesday evening in her honor.

On the sick list... Mrs. Harold Cohn is recuperating at the St. Anthony hospital in Pendleton from a major operation undergone on December 31. Ted Ferguson is now able to sit up a few hours each day,

Simple War Food Facts Given in OSC Leaflet

Printed in red, white and blue, thousands of copies of a four-page leaflet entitled "Food to Keep You Fit" have been issued by the extension service at Oregon State college. This leaflet, prepared by Mabel C. Mack, extension nutritionist, is aimed at "better family living for national defense."

It features the kind of foods needed by every family daily, including milk, fruits and vegetables high in vitamins, potatoes, eggs, meat or other high protein foods, cereals and bread, butter, sweets and fats for extra calories, and water. The leaflet also includes the approximate amount of these foods needed per week.

Copies of the leaflet may be had from any extension office.
