

SOCIETY CHIT-CHAT

By JUNE SMITH

The snow continues to supply the children here with all the outdoor recreation they can use. Skis and sleds are seen sliding all day long down the hills, with a few grownups seen sneaking rides on the youngster's sleds. Among the adult skiers seen this week were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson and Mr. Jaross, coach at the grammar school. Little Terry Thompson was the victim of an accident on his sled Tuesday when he came in contact with a truck and cut his head so badly five stitches were taken.

The members who attended the state woolgrowers' convention at LaGrande last week end are home again, including Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Pinckney, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barratt and Harold Cohn. The local woolgrowers auxiliary won first place in the wool exhibit, which was in charge of Mrs. Bob Thompson, and received third prize on their scrapbook. A very good report on the activities of the Morrow county auxiliary was given by the president, Mrs. B. C. Pinckney.

Members of the women's group were entertained at a tea Friday afternoon at the Neighborhood club rooms, where singing by Miss Patsy McManus and other musical numbers were presented. All who attended the convention were very enthusiastic about the music for the entire meeting. Especially beautiful were numbers by the A Capella choir of the Eastern Oregon College of Education, of which our own Kathryn Parker is a member. Another group which received much mention was an octette of boys from the college. The girls' glee club of the school also presented some lovely numbers, and the music by the LaGrande high school band, which has won prizes in many tournaments, was much enjoyed.

The meetings of the convention were held in the Sacajawea hotel. Other highlights of the meeting were the banquet and dance held Friday evening, and some very fine addresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, who returned from this convention Sunday are leaving again next Monday for Salt Lake City, where the National Woolgrowers convention will be held the 21st of the month. Mrs. Thompson is at work on the address she will give there, and says she is looking forward to the program to be given by Mrs. Gertrude Hogan of the Botany Woolen mills of New York who will be in charge of the style show and pictures.

The American Legion auxiliary met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. A. W. Jones, with Mrs. Gene Ferguson assistant hostess. This was a business meeting and Mrs. Floyd Adams was elected to represent the auxiliary on the committee to make a survey of woman power of the county. The next meeting, which will be a sewing meeting, will be held on the 20th at the Harvey Miller home. The members are devoting all their spare time to sewing and knitting for the Red Cross.

The Episcopal auxiliary elected officers at the last meeting held last Thursday at Mrs. Anna Bayless' home. Mrs. Bayless was elected president; Mrs. Mabel Hughes, vice-president; Mrs. Flora Nys, secretary, and Mrs. Wavel Wilkinson, treasurer.

The Bookworms met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lucy Rodgers. The book, "Soap Behind the Ears," by Cornelia Otis Skinner, was reviewed by Miss Leta Humphreys.

Honoring their daughter, Marjorie, who is leaving Saturday for Portland where she will be employed, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker entertained with a dinner party at their home Wednesday evening. Guests were employees of the First National Bank of Heppner, their wives and husbands, and Miss Florence Bergstrom.

Honoring the fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perkins and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Gardner, a party was held Sunday evening at the Gardner home. Following a buffet supper, pinocle was play-
