

Navy Offers New Chance for Students

Students attending school may now enlist in the Naval service and complete their current school year. You may enlist now, return to school and will not be called to active duty until the current school year is over, announces H. L. Larson, CTM, USN, recruiter in charge of the local district, who says this is a splendid opportunity for those young men who wish to enlist in the service but also wish to complete their schooling.

Ask for Class V-1 of the Naval Reserve at the Naval Recruiting Station, Post Office, Walla Walla, Washington.

The U. S. Navy has opened enlistments, with ratings, for men with construction experience for enrollment in Class V-6 of the Naval Reserve for assignment to headquarters and construction companies in a construction regiment.

These headquarters and construction companies are comprised of clerks, draftsmen, mechanics, etc., for shore duty at naval bases outside the continental limits of the United States. Acting appointments are made in various ratings up to and including Chief Petty Officer, depending upon the age, experience and other qualifications of the personnel enlisted.

The enlistment period is for the duration of the war. The salaries for these enlistments range from $36.00 to $99.00 a month and include housing, food, clothing, transportation, medical and dental care, and other incidentals to which enlisted personnel are entitled. An allowance of $34.50 is provided in the case of a dependent for ratings of petty officer 2c or above. However, not more than one dependent may be claimed.

Upon actual enlistment in the Naval Reserve for this duty you may be required to remain at your home in a leave status awaiting call to active duty. While in a leave status you will be entitled to the pay of your ratings, and allowances for dependents if applicable. You will not receive this pay, however, until your arrival at your first duty station. While in leave status, you must be prepared to comply promptly and immediately to any call to duty, since you will be actually in the Naval service and subject to such orders as you may receive. This procedure is necessary in order to assemble complete units before ordering to actual duty.

A Flag Like This Brings War News Close to Home

☆ Olongapo... Pearl Harbor... Singapore... Wake... these names have special meaning now in many a home. "My son was there... my neighbor's boy... my brother... the chap who worked beside me."

Reach for the newspaper... turn on the radio... anxious for news... eager to help!

We know a little of how it is. For each star on the flag you see above there is one of our own Pacific Power & Light Company boys in the uniform of his nation. And for every one of these stars, five more might be added for the sons, the brothers and other close relatives of those who carry on the work of our company family.

So keep the lines "hot", and keep the wheels turning! Give them the guns and the planes, the ships and the food! Give them a chance to come home when the victory's won. That's the job today... and beside it, nothing else counts.
