Griffith-Lindstrom Nuptials at Morgan

By MRS. ELMER GRIFFITH

The marriage of Miss Katherine Griffith and Roy W. Lindstrom was read by Rev. W. Moffat Denie of Northminster Presbyterian church, Portland, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Griffith, Saturday afternoon, February 14, on the twenty-fourth wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length dress of white marquisette, with shirred bodice and sweetheart neckline, and a fingertip veil, falling from a tiara of seed pearls, and carried a white prayer book with streamers and a single orchid. Mrs. J. W. Hawk, aunt of the bride, played the wedding march. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss June Griffith, who wore rose taffeta and a corsage of gardenias and rosebuds. Franklin Lindstrom acted as best man for his brother. Little Miss Lois Hawk kept the guest book.

Assisting at the reception were Mesdames J. W. Hawk, Albert Lindstrom, Franklin Lindstrom, and Garland Swanson. White tapers, daffodils and greens were used on the altar and about the rooms.

After a brief honeymoon at Columbia Vista, the young people will reside at the Winegar apartments at Monmouth until Mr. Lindstrom is called for military duty. The bride is a member of the senior class of Oregon College of Education, and the groom is engaged in business in Ione, and also interested in farming.

Doing a Wartime Job

The 3,700 motor vehicles of this company on the Pacific Coast, the more than 39,000 men and women who maintain and operate telephone service, are a mechanized, mobilized army in the service of communication.

Telephone workers can be counted on to play their part in the added effort that so many millions of workers throughout the nation are making today.

While it is necessary that our lines be readily available for telephone calls important to the wartime job, you may be sure that each telephone employee will do his or her level best to give you the finest service possible under existing conditions. Whether in peace or war, the tradition "The Message Must Go Through" is uppermost in their minds.

America says "keep 'em flying." But to keep 'em flying we must keep 'em rolling—on the rails. Materials, thousands of carloads, for planes, tanks and guns must be rushed to production and assembly plants. Completed armament also must be transported.

Union Pacific is powered to do the job. Twenty "Big Boys," largest steam locomotives ever built, have recently been added to the large fleet of other super-powered rail giants placed in service during the past five years.

Millions of dollars also have been invested in freight cars, new rails and property improvements. For defense as well as industry's normal needs, Union Pacific—the Strategic Middle Route connecting East with West—supplies the demand for dependable transportation.
