Would Be Solon

Pendleton, February 18.—Lowell Stockman, native of Umatilla county, well known throughout the state, has filed as candidate, at the coming May primaries, for the republican nomination for representative in congress, second congressional district.
 Now 40, Mr. Stockman was born and reared near Helix, on a wheat ranch originally homesteaded by his father, the late W. J. Stockman, and attended grade and high school in Pendleton. Since graduation, in agriculture, from Oregon State college, in 1922, he has been actively engaged in wheat raising at the ranch. Married to Miss Dorcas Conklin, Pendleton school teacher in 1924, the Stockmans have three children and have maintained a home in Pendleton since 1937, when their children entered school here.
 Mr. Stockman has been exceptionally active in civic affairs, being a member of the school board, vice-

2 Five-Week Summer Sessions to be Given

Oregon State College—In line with a general plan adopted by the state system of higher education in Oregon, the Oregon State college summer session this year will be operated as two five-week sessions starting with registration June 20, announces Dr. M. Ellwood Smith, director of the session.
 The first session will be from June 20 to July 25, and the second from July 25 to August 29. By holding classes on three Saturdays in the first session and by extending the class periods to a full hour in the second session, the equivalent of six weeks' work will be condensed in each five-week period, says Dean Smith.
 Arrangements have been made also to provide regular sequences of courses in the summer session which will enable high school graduates to complete a full term's freshman work during the summer session in a number of fields.
 The opening date at Oregon State is later than at the other system summer sessions but the fees are uniform throughout, says Dean Smith.
