R. W. TURNER PASSES
family and doing their full share in the early development of the old West.

Mr. Turner was pre-deceased by one baby son, Leslie, in 1898; by another son, Harry, in 1937, and by his beloved wife, Mary May, on October 28, 1940. He leaves to mourn his passing one daughter, Anita May LaDusire, and five sons, Frank, Samuel and Jesse of Heppner, Loy Monroe of Long Beach, California, and John W. of Baker. "He was an earnest, God-fearing Christian man, whose integrity was never questioned by those who knew him best."

E. J. Evans, in the city Tuesday from the Lexington farm, reported growing conditions good with prospects bright for the coming harvest. His son, L. E. Evans, is keeping books with an airplane factory in the Los Angeles district and listed in the flying reserves, having more than fifty solo hours to his credit.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. McMurdo were in Pendleton Tuesday evening where the doctor attended a meeting of the Umatilla Medical association while Mrs. McMurdo visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. A. Leach.

August Rahner was taken to the Eastern Oregon hospital at Pendleton the end of the week.

Knitting for the Red Cross has become a very popular pastime here these days, with the bright red and green yarn furnished for this much in evidence wherever a group of women is assembled. It can also be seen in many homes lying ready to be picked up whenever a few moments of leisure allow. Mrs. Anna Bayless wishes to announce that there is still yarn to be distributed to any knitters who have not already received theirs, and may be had by calling at the Masonic temple dining rooms any afternoon from 1 to 5, Tuesday to Friday inclusive.

The St. Patrick's dance, sponsored by the Altar society, is always a very popular dance here, and it is expected that Saturday evening will find a large crowd, as always, enjoying themselves at the Elks hall. Music will be furnished by the Men About Town.

Mrs. Lyle Swenson entertained the Kensington club at her home yesterday. Sewing occupied the afternoon, with refreshments served later.

Mrs. W. N. Rockwell has joined her husband, Dr. Rockwell here, and they are now at home in the Gilman building.

Mrs. Kenneth House entertained her bridge club at her home last Thursday evening. Mrs. Cornett Green was high, and Mrs. Frank Connor won second. The hostess served refreshments at the close of play.

Mrs. Bob Thompson and Mrs. Jennie Loudon drove to Spray last Friday, taking with them their father, W. C. Brown, who will spend a while there visiting his daughter, Mrs. I. R. Reed. Mr. Brown's many friends will be interested to hear that tomorrow will be his 92nd birthday.

The Eastern Star Social club met Saturday afternoon at the Masonic hall, with four tabes of contract bridge in play. Mrs. L. E. Dick and Mrs. George Howard were hostesses for the affair, which was a dessert bridge. Mrs. Garnet Barratt won high score. Mrs. J. G. Thomson, Jr., was low, and Mrs. W. O. Dix received a door prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth House and children drove to Dayton, Wash., for the week end, where they visited Mr. House's mother, Mrs. D. House and his sister, Mrs. Theodore Turner who was leaving next day to join her husband who is training in the east.

Mrs. Harold Buhman won high score and Mrs. L. E. Dick second at the meeting of the T & C club held last Thursday at the Orville Smith home.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jones drove to Walla Walla yesterday.

Mrs. Earl Bryant entertained her bridge club at the Lucas Place Tuesday evening. Mrs. Norton Lundell, who is leaving next week to join Mr. Lundell in Los Angeles, was honor guest, and was presented with a farewell gift by members of the club. Refreshments were served at the close of play, at which Mrs. Bryant received high score and Mrs. Kenneth House second.

The What's Trumps club met last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Gene Ferguson, with Mrs. Garret Barratt receiving high score and Mrs. George Howard low. The hostess served refreshments at the close of play.

The Morrow County Woolgrowers auxiliary met last Friday at the Lucas Place. Mrs. Josephine Mahoney presented for the program a very fine exhibit of copies of twelve of the finest paintings, and gave a short description of the artist, the painting and the times in which the work was created.

The Bookworms met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. J. O. Turner, with Mrs. Lera Crawford as hostess. Mrs. Lucy Rodgers reviewed the book, "Blood Remembers," by Mrs. Helen Hedrick. This book is of especial interest here, as the authoress is the wife of Supt. E. H. Hedrick, who was in charge of the Heppner school for some years in the 1920's at which time Mrs. Hedrick made her home here.

The Episcopal auxiliary met this afternoon at the Parish House. Miss Catherine Peterson of Pendleton was present to answer any questions pertaining to the church or its work.

The American Legion auxiliary met Monday evening at Mrs. Earl Gilliam's to plan the joint annual pot luck dinner to be held Sunday evening at 6 p. m. at Mrs. Anna Bayless' home by the Legion and auxiliary.

Mrs. Phil Mahoney and baby son drove to Pendleton yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Cohn and Sally and Mrs. R. C. Lawrence and Patricia.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dick drove to Portland last Monday, returning later in the week.

The boys who drove to Eugene last week end to witness the tournament playoff there report a very fine time. Four of the number stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKenzie, while two others slept at the dormitory. Mr. McKenzie was a teacher here last year. They were enthusiastic about a tour through the state capital at Salem. Coach Lyle Swenson took some of the boys in his car, and Mrs. B. C. Pinckney took the remainder down in her automobile. Mrs. Pinckney visited relatives in Portland over the week end, staying with her cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Pasquier.

Morrow County Woolgrowers auxiliary recently authorized purchase of a defense bond from the organization's funds.
