The last week brought a number of visitors to Heppner, as well as taking quite a few residents out of town. Among those here for the week end was Miss Marjorie Parker of Portland, who accompanied Harry Nelson, also of Portland, spending Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Parker. Mr. and Mrs. Emory Coxen of Bend are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blake. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Judkins of Pendleton spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parker. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spittle of Astoria, parents of Mrs. Ture Peterson, arrived Tuesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Peterson. Mrs. Ross Draper of Susanville, Calif., sister of Mrs. Richard Lawrence, who was with Mrs. Lawrence and Patricia while Patricia was in the hospital in Portland, returned to Heppner with them last Friday and will visit here a while. Patricia is well enough to return to school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Thomson, Jr., left Sunday for Portland where they will stay until today.

Mrs. W. H. Cleveland returned Sunday from a trip to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cohn drove to Pendleton Wednesday.

J. O. Turner and B. C. Pinckney went to Pendleton Sunday to attend the air raid practice held there that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rosewall drove to Walla Walla Tuesday.

The American Legion auxiliary met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Anna Bayless, with Mrs. Dick Wells hostess. It was planned to sponsor a preschool clinic here on April 21 in the afternoon. It was announced that the window display in Humphreys Drug store in February featuring defense won first prize in the class of cities under 5,000. The window was in charge of Mrs. Wells, who is national defense chairman for the auxiliary here.

Mrs. Bill Cox entertained her bridge club Tuesday night with two tables of contract. Mrs. K. A. House won first prize, and Mrs. Norbert Peavy second. Beautiful bouquets of spring flowers, bridal wreath and jonquils decorated the tables. Refreshments were served following the cards.

Mrs. Alden Blankenship was hostess to her duplicate club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Floyd Jones is undergoing medical treatment at the St. Anthony's hospital at Pendleton.

Word has been received that Mrs. Clifford Jenison is now living at Athena, at the home of her parents, and is working in the bank there.

Frances Wilkinson recently pledged Delta Delta Delta at Oregon State college.

Mrs. Kenneth Blake entertained a number of her young son's friends at a birthday party Saturday afternoon, celebrating Darrell's fifth birthday.

Mrs. W. O. Dix entertained her bridge club at her home last Saturday afternoon. Refreshments were served following the play.

On his sixth birthday Terry Thompson was host to twelve youngsters. The children spent the day Sunday at the Thompson ranch in the country where they had a picnic lunch, picked wild flowers and rode horseback.

The Elks lodge will entertain the wives at ladies' night this evening at the lodge hall. Cards will be played, with Mrs. Raymond Ferguson and Mrs. L. E. Dick acting as hostesses. Dancing and refreshments will follow.

The ladies of the Episcopal auxiliary served a very fine dinner to the forty or more woolgrowers and wives who met at the Parish House Monday night. Harold Cohn presided, and Mac Hoke, president of the state woolgrowers' association, spoke.

Mrs. Sarah French returned home the first of the week from a two weeks visit at Fort Lewis, Wash., where she stayed at the guest house for wives and mothers of soldiers while visiting her son, Earl Crismon. Mrs. Crismon who accompanied her remained a few days longer. Mrs. French also saw John McRoberts and Donald Fell, other Heppner boys. She highly praised the camp facilities for entertaining the wives and mothers, which helped to make her visit exceedingly enjoyable.

Anglers are urged not to forget to fill out catch record cards reporting on the results of their fishing trips. These cards may be secured from license agencies, fishing resorts, sportsmen's organizations and state police officers.

Maintain Soils for Long War, Farmers Told by AAA Chief

More conservation farming on more farms than ever before is needed if agriculture meets production goals this year and for the duration of the war, 1200 Oregon AAA county and community committeemen were advised this week in a letter from Fred S. Wallace, national chief of AAA.

Conservation practices are needed that will get greater and wiser production per acre and per farm next year and for the duration, Wallace advised the committeemen. He called on the committeemen to do two things to carry out agriculture's war production task:

1. Use every method of adjustment to get the right amount of each product, without waste.
 2. Use every method of conservation to increase yields this year and build up the soil for bigger output next year.
- "We were in the last war only 19 months, and yet agriculture was barely able to get by—disregarding the future—by reckless plowing up additional acres, by shooting up too much of our ammunition in the first wild volley," Wallace's letter continued. "This time we cannot possibly get the needed production simply through a plough-up spree."
- Oregon farmers and ranchers, cashing in on soil fertility built up through conservation work in recent years, have a running start on this year's production goals, Robert B.

Taylor, chairman of the Oregon AAA committee, points out. Citing the increased interest in pasture and range improvement practices, and the big demand for lime and phosphate through the AAA program, Taylor believes that Oregon farmers are laying a foundation for heavier production for as long as the war lasts.
