Navy School at G.E.

Just one evidence of the cooperation between the armed services and our vast industrial army—a school for submarine electricians conducted at one General Electric factory.

1. Electricity is vital to the running of every submarine. It does an amazing variety of important jobs, from turning the propeller to cooking the coffee.

2. For that reason, there must be well-trained electricians on every underwater craft. At this school, Navy electricians attend classes taught by G-E engineers . . . . .

3. . . . . and go out into the shops where they watch workmen construct the same kind of electric equipment that will some day be put in their charge.

4. This is but one proof of the thorough training which the U.S. Navy gives its men, so that the vital equipment of war will always be ready for action.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

HOW TO BE HAPPY AND SAVE SUGAR TOLD BY LEADER

People can't get as much sugar as they would like. From a health standpoint they don't need as much as they normally get—in fact, just about half that amount. The logical thing to do, therefore, is find ways of making the sugar allowance give a maximum personal satisfaction. This is the way Lucy A. Case, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at O. S. C., sizes up the present sugar situation.

It's no use to worry about exactly how much sugar is in the country, because with sugar now considered a weapon of war—as a source of alcohol needed in explosives—the government is sure to maintain a margin of safety to avoid such a critical shortage as has occurred with rubber, she said.

The sugar allowance provided, aside from that especially earmarked for canning, can probably be used to give most satisfaction in cooking and baking. Even there, however, other things can be used to substitute for it. Corn syrup and honey may be used in many kinds of cooked foods, or even to sweeten breakfast cereals.

The use of more dried fruits is a sugar-conserving measure, as many of them are almost sweet enough without additional sugar. Raisins or dried prunes added to certain dishes will provide sweetening as well as fruit. Corn, carrots, and sweet potatoes are rich in their own sugar, and will aid in providing a sweet taste to meals.

Such deserts as custards, bread puddings, and others made with a large proportion of milk and eggs need much less sugar than many other desserts. Some home-makers were sung. Rev. Atkinson was formerly a minister in this community. On the way down the Troedsons called on the Ellis Minor family at Latourell Falls and visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dillingham, former Morrow county residents, at Talbot park. On their return trip they spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Balsiger at White Salmon. They returned Tuesday, and reported that they found rain everywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crawford drove to Portland Saturday and on Sunday attended the Marvel reunion. They are old friends of the Marvels.

are economizing on sugar by ending the meal with a fruit salad or fresh fruit, instead of with a dessert requiring more sugar.

In cake making, sugar may be saved by omitting a frosting, or by using a filling of a fruit mixture or something else that does not take ordinary sugar. Finally, if iced drinks are used, they may be sweetened with a thin syrup much more economically than with plain sugar.
