Snell Thanks Friends, Reasserts Promises

Earl Snell, republican nominee for governor, expressing appreciation for the confidence extended him by the voters of the state, issued the following statement early Saturday morning after early returns indicated a substantial lead over his opponent, Governor Sprague.

"I am most appreciative and profoundly grateful for the splendid expression of confidence accorded me by the citizens of my native state. I am not unmindful of the great responsibilities and obligations that accompany this vote of confidence.

"These are trying times. They are times that try men's souls. America will rise to the occasion as she has met every emergency of the past. Oregon will be marching in the front ranks!

"During this campaign I made certain pledges to the people of Oregon. They were made with all the sincerity that I possess. I am deeply sensitive to those obligations, not only to the republican party which I am honored to represent, but obligations to all the citizens of this great commonwealth.

"Oregon has been fortunate in the type and character of the men who have served as chief executives of our great state. Governor Charles A. Sprague, our present governor, has served with credit and distinction. He was called from private life to serve our state during one of the most trying times in our history. His conscientious service will long be remembered.

"In conclusion, I wish to extend my sincere appreciation to the many friends and supporters who have made my nomination possible. Their sincere friendship and steadfast loyalty will never be forgotten.

"The press and radio have been most courteous and kind.

"May I conclude with this solemn pledge: That if I am chosen as governor of Oregon in November, it will be my sincere and earnest purpose to serve my native state in a manner that will reflect credit and honor. To that end I pledge the utmost of my talents, ability and capacity."

New KOAC Transmitter Tested; Full Use Near

Corvallis—The new KOAC 5000-watt transmitter has been put thru its preliminary 10-day equipment test with satisfactory results, reports F. O. McMillan, supervising engineer of the station and head of the electrical engineering department at O. S. C.

The next step will be the "proof of performance tests" which will involve approximately 30 days of operation of the new equipment in daytime only. This is expected to start at least by June 1, and will make the broadcasting of the commencement exercises at O. S. C. and the baccalaureate service at the University of Oregon over the new and powerful equipment possible.

During that period the big directional antenna system, designed to increase the signals to the north, south, and east, and suppress them in the direction of Tongue Point naval station, will be given its final adjustment. Although preliminary tests were all made after midnight, numerous encouraging reports of reception were received from this and other states, McMillan said.

NEWS OF FIGHT ON INFLATION TO REACH WIDELY

Control of rising prices is of vital interest to every man, woman, and child whether livelihood comes from farm, factory, or industry, according to those now engaged in enlisting public support of the national program against inflation.

Here in Oregon, as in all other states, the state college extension service has been assigned the task of carrying information on the program to every rural and farm family in the state. Ways of doing this were considered in a four-state conference of extension officials and OPA representatives in Spokane.

"Only through widespread understanding can a program involving voluntary action of all citizens be carried out," said William A. Schoenfeld, dean and director of agriculture, following the conference. "As an educational agency the extension service has been requested to reach every rural family with information on the program aimed at preventing runaway prices and inflation. Control of inflation is essential in winning the war, and in resuming normal life in the peace which follows."

The national program contemplates fair treatment of all elements of the population, even though adjustments may be needed in addition to steps already announced.

Runaway prices in the first world war brought post-war disaster for farmers even more than other classes of the population, federal officials point out. When the price spree ended in the early twenties, the index of farm prices dropped 130 points in a single year. Thousands of farmers lost their farms because prices first went too far up and then too far down.

Here in Oregon more than half of the population is classified as rural in the 1940 census. Under plans being worked out by the extension service, it is hoped to reach every rural family during the month of June with information on its part in the price control program. The extension service will work with farm and rural organizations, OPA representatives, and other agencies of the federal government in carrying out the informational program.
