4-H Shows Billed On Reduced Scale As Fairs Dropped

Plans for exhibiting 4-H club products despite the cancellation of the state fair, the Pacific International and many of the county fairs have been virtually completed, assuring that efforts of some 25,000 youngsters will not go unrewarded so far as competitive prizes are concerned, announces H. C. Seymour, state club leader in the Oregon State college extension service.

Here is about the way the line-up looks: In the counties such as Multnomah where county fairs will be held, the 4-H club exhibits will be included as usual. In counties where no county fair is being held this year the 4-H clubs will hold community exhibits in centers convenient to the most members. From the top exhibits in these community shows, county winners will be picked by extension workers or other judges in classifications where county winners are important.

Members of livestock clubs producing fat stock, including those in beef, lamb and pig projects, will take their fat stock as usual to the Salem fair grounds on September 9. The animals will be judged the next day and sold at auction September 11. It is pointed out that this will involve no extra transportation as the fat stock must be marketed anyway. No breeding stock will be shown.

Meanwhile the winning county exhibits in home economics and similar projects will be sent to Salem for judging but will not be accompanied by the 4-H club members. The only members going to Salem will be those in fat stock projects.

Arrangements have also been tentatively made for those 4-H club members from this and other states who normally send fat stock to the Pacific International. Arrangements are being made to handle such stock at the Union Stockyards under a plan somewhat similar to that provided at Salem.

Best demonstration teams will be selected in each county by the workers there, with scores sent in to the state office. State judges will then visit the counties which apparently have the best teams and will select state winners in those fields such as dairy production and dairy food demonstrations where national competition is provided.

"We may have to give and take a bit under this arrangement because obviously the selections cannot be accurate in all cases as under normal procedure," said Seymour. "We intend to do the best we can, however, and believe that the results will be satisfactory in view of the wartime difficulties involved."

War Research

In war the advantage is on the side with the best weapons. The work of scientists in America's research laboratories, developing new materials and new equipment, means a lot to our fighting men.

1. It takes years to build up and equip a large, organized, and able staff for research. Fortunately, industry did this long ago.

2. Long before Pearl Harbor, laboratories like General Electric's were serving their country—solving technical problems of war.

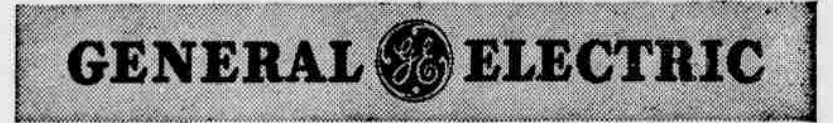

3. History repeats! In the last war "wireless" was developed for military needs—to become, with peace, a giant broadcasting industry.

4. So it will be this time. Research will help to win the war, and its many wartime discoveries will help to build a better future.

Rodeo Among Shows Given Approval

Heppner Rodeo has been given clearance for showing this year, by the state authority on public gatherings, should the directors wish to go ahead, according to announcement just received. The directors a few weeks ago deferred definite action on this year's show, intimating that it would probably not be held due to rubber and gas rationing.

Leo G. Spitzbart, Oregon state fair manager whose own big show has been cancelled voluntarily for 1942 due to war conditions, has "enjoyed" the ironic role in recent days of notifying other Oregon fairs and large celebrations that their events have been approved—subject, of course, to the military situation. Spitzbart is liaison officer for public gatherings in Oregon.

Spitzbart's office and military authorities have given approval within the last ten days to holding of the following events:

Pendleton Round-Up, Pendleton, September 16-19; Happy Canyon Days, Pendleton, September 16-19; Harney county fair, Burns, September 18-20; Grant county fair, John Day, September 25-27; Hood River 4-H fair, September 2-3; Lake county fair and rodeo, Lakeview, September 5-7; Wasco county fair, Tygh Valley, September 25-27; Heppner rodeo, Heppner, August 28-30; Friends church conference, Twin Rocks, August 3-10; Wild West show, Jantzen Beach, Portland, August 7-10; West coast circus and carnival, Marshfield, July 20-26; Multnomah county fair, Gresham, August 24-30; Wheeler county fair, Fossil, Sept. 11-12; Clatsop 4-H fair, Astoria, Aug. 27-29.

ENTERS HOSPITAL

Billy Snow, who has been suffering for some time from after effects of a severe attack of pneumonia, entered Heppner hospital the end of the week for treatment. His progress toward recovery has been slow, but he is reported as doing well.

Federal Loans Ready To Speed Students

Oregon State College—Government loans for junior and senior college students enrolled in certain technical courses will be provided this coming year as an aid in the speed-up process in higher education, Acting President F. A. Gillfillan has been notified from Washington.

The loans are intended to make certain qualified students in engineering and some science fields continue to graduation as rapidly as possible even though they do not have opportunity that way to earn college expenses. Officials here point to this arrangement as another evidence of the government's desire for students to complete college training, especially in technical fields.

Loans will cover tuition plus $25 per month up to a maximum of $500 a year and will draw 2½ per cent interest. In case the student is called by selective service prior to graduation the loan will be cancelled. Students taking the loan must agree to continue in designated work following graduation for the duration. Courses included are engineering, physics, chemistry, medicine, dentistry and pharmacy.
