Storage Bin Collapses With 25,000 Bu. Grain

By MRS. ELMER GRIFFITH

An unusual accident happened at the Delbert Emert ranch on Wednesday afternoon when his farm storage bin filled with 25,000 bushels of new grain collapsed with such force that six by six boards were hurled a distance of forty feet. Fortunately no one was injured although the bin was located near the ranch house. The accident was caused by one of the clamps on the cable slipping thus releasing all of the cables and allowing the walls to fall. The grain conveyor was also wrecked. The bin was a 30 x 80 foot building. A new one is under construction.

Charles O'Connor sustained a serious bruise in the upper part of his right arm on Monday, while inflating a truck tire. The ring that holds the tire on the rim snapped off, allowing the tire to blow out and the rim to strike him across the arm and chest. Walter Bristow took him to Heppner to a physician, where a clamp was placed on the cut.

Bert Mason, Jr., of Photo Liaison Unit, North Island, Calif., writes of his early experience in aerial photography.

"I flew with one of those young ensigns a few days ago in a two seater advance trainer. Evidently he felt the need for action for he went up 2000 feet and for half an hour practiced wing-overs, vertical banks, and 180 degree turns. Then he did a power dive to 2000 feet and started playing tag with the cliffs and trees in the canyons east of El Cajon.

"Tiring of this he took a turn at hedge hopping over towns and farms in the open country.

"Finally he leveled out and flew to our objective, where I reseated my stomach which had lagged about a foot behind me during the entire ride, and took the pictures which I had been ordered to bring back.

"He certainly satisfied any desire I may have had for an exciting ride.

"During one of my patrol flights last week the fog was so thick that observation was useless, so we climbed above it for the return journey. Had we not been ordered to photograph only assigned objectives, I could have gotten some beautiful shots of our companion planes over the endless snow white rolling blanket of fog which stretched from the mountains of Mexico to the horizon.

"Wich reminds me, today I saw the first sunrise in several months. We were beginning to wonder if someone just hung it out there about eleven o'clock every morning. The fog, except for today, never clears away before that time.

"In the back of my mind I'm working on a scheme to get 15 days leave in October which will give me about 10 days, at home. Figured I would try to get off about October 10-25 so as to hit the end of the buck season, doe season, and start of elk season, fishing and some birds."

Ordnance Depot Jobs Paying $200 a Month

Civil service jobs paying a minimum of $200 a month for a seven day week and $160 a month for a six day week are now available at the Umatilla Ordnance depot, Hermiston.

Barracks and mess halls are available for single workers. Rooms cost twenty-five cents a day and meals average fifty cents each.

Despite the flow of men to the depot from throughout Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, the need for workers is still urgent.

The work is steady with no shutdowns or layoffs. All qualified workers will be given appointments for the duration of the war and six months thereafter. To be eligible for such appointments, applicants must be American citizens, over 18 years of age, weighing over 130 pounds, and free from serious physical disabilities.

The Civil Service commission and the United States Employment service are cooperating in an intensive drive to secure many more workers for the depot. All who are interested should inquire at the nearest employment office where full information about the job and how to go to work there will be available.

"Blackout and blackout at all times," is the word State Forester N. S. Rogers passes along to the general public. He is referring to army regulations which restrict all burning after night. Even during the day your debris burning must be guarded against, so that Oregon may be kept green.

Reid Buseick of Long Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Akers of Hamilton while away.

WE'RE IN A WAR; a fact that is being brought home to us in many ways. No longer can we enjoy all the privileges to which we have become accustomed. Johnny can't use the car. Mother can't bake so many cakes.

Place the blame squarely where it belongs—in Berlin. The shadow that has darkened so much of the world could lengthen still farther; could bar our freedom of speech, press and worship; yes, and our right to travel when and where we choose.

What are we doing about it? Ask any Union Pacific man. He and thousands of other American railroad workers are exerting every effort to stop that creeping shadow; transporting armament and munitions as fast as our factories can turn them out . . . transporting troops in ever-increasing numbers. It's a job that must be done so we Americans may always be free to go wherever we please, unquestioned and without fear.
