

Mrs. America Meets The War

With the familiar tag, "100 percent wool," getting scarcer, have you been wondering how you would know just what you were getting when buying new garments? The answer is that all woolen goods offered for sale must be labeled as to the amount and kind of wool and other fiber used. A recent WPB order limiting civilian use of new wool for all woolen articles, tends to stretch our decreased wartime supplies by increasing the amount available for blending with other fibers. However, in blending, the least amount of wool permitted is 20 percent and the maximum is 65 percent. Technical experts of the OPA Consumer division say that the 20 percent minimum assures us that blended fabrics will be warm enough.

If you see a new dress with a set of copper or copper-plated buttons, don't think there has been a violation of the WPB order. Of course, copper has been banned for the manufacture of costume jewelry since May. However, some costume jewelry accessories and buttons already made up were frozen in hands of dress manufacturers. Since these stocks aren't particularly suitable for any other purpose, the materials already fabricated have been released and they can be used as ornaments for dresses.

Apartment dwellers without an overabundance of space often got around the guest room problem by letting Aunt Minnie sleep on the studio couch in the living room. However, after November 1, studio couches and sofa beds containing iron and steel cannot be made. The same WPB order which dealt this death blow also prohibits the production of mattresses using iron or steel in innerspring construction after September 1.

With factories turning out fewer rugs and carpets, the care of those in Mrs. America's home is a wartime must. Consider that in one 9 x 12 rug there is enough jute to make 32 sand baks for use in trench warfare, and, of course, there aren't many shipments of jute from India these days. A 9 x 12 rug also contains enough wool to make seven pairs of army trousers, and the wool, you know, that goes into floor coverings comes from Australia, China and South America. To help prolong the life of a rug, never beat or shake it, and it is a good idea to place carefully arranged newspaper, mats or padding under it.

And on the topic of giving extra care to some of the household articles made scarce by the war, don't delay in having necessary repairs made to your vacuum cleaner. Consult a reliable repair man. And here are some pointers offered by the OPA Consumer division for the care of this household valuable: Clean and oil the motor regularly, if the manufacturer's directions say so. Don't put off emptying the dust bag. It's better to do so after using the vacuum, and occasionally do a more thorough job by turning the bag itself inside out and cleaning with a brush. And here's one of the best lessons in conservation. Don't leave the motor running when you aren't actually using the vacuum. Remember to turn it off when you answer the doorbell or the telephone because you may be kept longer than you expect.

If you've been wondering about the availability of replacement parts in the event that anything were to go wrong with your furnace this winter, relax. Although the WPB has prohibited the use of iron or steel in excess of certain specified quotas for furnaces, there are no restrictions placed on the manufacture of replacement parts.

Even the wooden clothespin has found its way into a price regulation. Darning eggs also were brought under a price ceiling in the regulation which covers many wood products made by turning or shaping lumber to a pattern on a cutting machine.

Waste fats are needed because grease makes glycerine and glycerine makes gun powder.

ONE NEWS Misfortune Visits James Lindsay Twice

By MRS. ELMER GRIFFITH

Ione, August 18.—James Lindsay has been visited by misfortune twice this summer. Not long ago the lumber for a grain bin burned and Monday the second accident happened when the eye bolts through which the cables pass opened up, allowing some cables to let loose and the walls of the grain bin to break out. About seven thousand bushels of wheat was stored in the bin.

Mrs. William Rowell of Beaverton was a week end guest of her daughter, Mrs. Harvey Ring. She was brought up from Hood River by her son, Arthur Rowell. Mrs. Raymond Brothers and Mrs. Glover Peck of Hermiston were also guests of their sister, Mrs. Ring, on Saturday. Mrs. Brothers (Grace Rowell) departed on Monday for Colorado, where she went to see her husband who is on furlough after having been released from an army hospital following an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Errett Hummel and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Eubanks and son, Donald, and Mrs. Eubanks' sister, Earlene Morgan, went to Pendleton on Sunday. By train from there Earlene departed for her home in Portland. Donald accompanied her for a visit.

Mrs. Della Nance of Culver has been engaged as the new commercial teacher. Mrs. Nance' husband is with the armed forces and she has two children of pre-school age.

Mrs. Perry Bartlemay and children are here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Morgan, Sr., from their home in Meacham.

Mrs. Harvey Ring and Mrs. Clarence Harris attended a shower in Lexington on Thursday in honor of Mrs. Kemp Dick.

Mrs. Howard Keithley and children of Baker are visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ida Grabbill.

Mrs. Raymond Way of Toppenish was visiting her son, Melvin Way, and her sister, Mrs. Warren Rice, this week end. They are employed at the C. F. Feldman ranch.

Mrs. Alice Wiles has word that her son Floyd, who left here the last of July, is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Botts are the proud parents of a seven pound boy born Wednesday morning in Ione. He has been named John Owen.

Mrs. Beulah Davin and daughter, Sharon, left on Monday after an extended visit here with her mother, Mrs. A. Newlin. They are going to Portland and later to California.

Fred Mankin motored to Portland Friday evening for his wife, who recently underwent a major operation in that city and has been convalescing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Holmes Gabbert. He was accompanied as far as Portland by Mrs. Ted Blake, who was on her way to visit a sister, Mrs. John Blake, who was going to Grants Pass after a visit in Portland, and Mrs. Fell of Heppner.

Mrs. Alvin Bunch is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Misner at Thornton, Wash. She left on Wednesday.

Mrs. Della Corson is visiting her son, Lt. Eldred Corson, who is with the air force at Sacramento, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Calandra of Portland arrived Wednesday to visit Mrs. Calandra's sister, Mrs. O. G. Haguewood and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoke and son Alan of Seattle were guests of Mrs. Hoke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Ely of Morgan, the last of the week. When they left Alan remained for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lundell heard from their son Richard, who is now stationed at Salt Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pettyjohn and son left on Tuesday after a two day visit with relatives here. Patricia and Dolores Drake went with them to their home at Hermiston for a visit.

Mrs. Dale Ray has word that her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goodrich, are the parents of a baby boy born last week at Lyle, Wash.

The Ione Sunday school had a newsy letter from Harry Ring, who is with our armed forces in Hawaii.

Vegetable Storage Tips Given by Prof

A least 15 vegetables commonly grown in Oregon are suitable for storage in the fresh state, thereby prolonging the supply of fresh produce through the fall and winter months, points out A. G. B. Bouquet, vegetable crops specialist at Oregon State college.

In one of the series of food-for-victory leaflets issued by the extension service Professor Bouquet describes methods of storing beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify, turnips, rutabagas, cabbage, celery, onions, peppers, potatoes, pumpkins, squash, tomatoes, and dried beans and peas.

With probably more produce produced in victory gardens this year than has been grown by the ordinary farmer or city dweller in decades, a considerable surplus of some of these vegetables is sure to remain at the end of the growing season in many gardens. Here on the west coast especially, market gardening has been seriously disrupted by the removal of Jap gardeners, hence the family that stores its own vegetables will be far more certain of having a fresh supply through the winter than those who depend on the market.

One of the first essentials in successful storage is to choose only sound vegetables that are free from serious blemishes or injuries and then to handle them carefully while they are being placed in storage, says Professor Bouquet. The leaflet, which may be had free at any extension office, describes both bin and pit storage and gives many hints on avoiding spoilage.

He writes that he is getting along fine and likes the country very much, but would give most anything for a visit home.

Clyde Pettyjohn, who recently underwent an appendectomy in Pendleton, arrived home on Wednesday. Ione people who attended the circus in Heppner Monday were distressed to learn that Heppner's saw mills were not producing enough sawdust to cover a circus ring, with the result that all attending were in need of baths and laundering by the end of the performance.

Ione library has received three new adult books for its shelves: Saratoga Trunk by Edna Ferber, Majesty's Rancho by Zane Grey, and Inside Latin America by John Gunther.

A large delegation of friends from this community attended the funeral of Mancel Krebs in Arlington Wednesday morning.

New JOHN DEERE Model "H"

You're in for the surprise of your life when you see and drive the John Deere Model "H"—the sensational new small tractor that handles two-row equipment and completely replaces animal power on small and large farms everywhere, cutting costs 'way below their former level, and making farming more profitable.

And when you learn the price, you'll wonder how John Deere can give you so much in a tractor that sells for so little.

In addition, the Model "H" not only burns low-cost fuel but it uses only 1/3 to 1/2 as much fuel on the many jobs within its power range, as would larger tractors handling the same load.

Come in, see it, and get "the surprise of your life."
