

Graders Organize For Service Work

Class activities in the Lexington school are now organized and the young people once again are busy with service work. In a recent meeting the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades, taught by Mrs. Lillian Turner, affected their organization, a report of which submitted by LaVonne McMillan, secretary is given verbatim:

"Organization of the seventh and eighth grades of the Lexington grade school for 1942-1943.

"At a meeting called by Mrs. L. C. Turner the following officers were elected: president, Aubrey Majeski; vice president, Lorine Van Winkle and secretary-treasurer, LaVonne McMillan.

"The school yard was discussed and Lorine Van Winkle and LaVonne McMillan were appointed to see Mr. Burton about the weeds.

"We voted to have a defense stamp booklet. Carolyn Bauman was appointed to secure it.

"It was decided that we gather scrap iron and other things needed for defense work. Gene Cutsforth was appointed chairman of this project.

"It was decided that we have a meeting every Friday afternoon.

"There was no other business so the meeting was adjourned."

LaVonne McMillan, secretary.

Hardman News . . .

Community Leaders Named at Hardman

By Elsa M. Leathers

Voluntary community and neighborhood leaders in the Hardman section have been named as follows: Neal Knighten and Elsa M. Leathers, Hardman; Muriel Palmer, Rood Canyon; Frances Leathers Reed's Mill, and Eva Robinson the Camas Prairie district. This committee will be glad to assist you with any problem that may arise. Elsa M. Leathers will receive any contributions of scrap iron, rubber, fats—in short, your junk—you may wish to donate. This will be sent to the receiving station at Heppner.

Ray Patterson entered high school here Monday as a sophomore. He was a student here last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reed went to Spokane Thursday to get a part for the mill that was broken. They returned Saturday.

Sammie McDaniel is suffering from a back injury and was in Heppner over Wednesday and Thursday under a doctor's care. He is slowly improving at the time of this writing.

Mrs. Jim Hams and son La Verne went to Pendleton Sunday. Mrs. Hams went to see her new granddaughter who arrived Sept. 22. The small girl weighed two pounds 9½ ounces. It is thought she will be named Linda LaVerne.

Miss Alta Stevens is visiting a few days at her home here from Heppner where she has been working before she goes to Monument to visit her sister, Mrs. Stanley Musgrave.

Everett Hadley and Elmer Steers went to Spokane Friday night for final examination and returned home Sunday. Everett passed and will report at Ogen Utah, in two weeks, while Elmer was rejected.

Zeppie Harrison and Skeet Knighten from Top were in Hardman Sunday looking for seed rye.

Ollie Hastings spent the week-end at her home in Kinzua.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Coats and two children of Hillsboro are visiting this week with Mr. Coats' father, Henry Coats and Grandma Coats besides friends and other relatives.

Joyce Buschke was forced to quit school this week when it was learned she is suffering from leakage of the heart and rheumatism. She was in the fifth grade.

Mrs. C. H. McDaniel left Sunday with her son Everett, to visit her father, Charles Emory at Jefferson and relatives in Portland.
