Senate Bill 53 Gets Snell's Support

Gubernatorial Candidate Earl Snell has pledged his support of the Senate Bill 53, the coastal streams measure, which will be known on the November ballot as Referendum No. 310, in a recent letter to E. J. Church, President of the Oregon Wildlife Federation.

His letter, in part, follows: "I feel that I have a full appreciation of the value of Oregon's wild life to the individual. Having served seven years as secretary of state, during which time I have issued to visitors literally tens of thousands of non-resident permits, and being in a business catering to tourist travel, I feel that I know, also, the economic value of Oregon's wild life to the State as a whole.

"By the same token I am not unmindful of the value to our State of commercial fishing. It is a very important industry. It is an industry which likewise must be protected. I have always felt that with proper regulation and planning, both should thrive and prosper.

"You inquired as to my attitude with reference to the legislative act known as Senate Bill 53, which has been referred to the people. This Act was passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor. I shall vote for and support Senate Bill 53."

President Church explains that to support Senate Bill 53, citizens must vote "yes" on Referendum No. 310.

ORANGEMEN NOT DOWNHEARTED OVER CRUSHING DEFEAT

OREGON STAE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 15—(Special)—Having already missed Monday's drill due to the late arrival of their train from California, the Oregon State football team today prepared to grid itself for the Santa Clara game this Saturday in the four practices remaining. The Orangemen didn't hit Corvallis until late yesterday afternoon, after four solid days of traveling over the week end. Little was said of last week end's defeat by the University of California at Los Angeles save praise for the Bruins.

"They may not go through the season undefeated, but the UCLA team Saturday was about the best outfit we've met in years," was the comment of Coach Lon Stiner of the Beavers. "We had a bad day, but the test of a good ball club is its ability to play its best game every Saturday," he added.

Squad injuries are now at a minimum, reported Trainer Doc Allman. George Zellick and Paul "Tiny" Evensen received painful bruises in the Los Angeles battle, but will be in shape for the Santa Clara game. Orville Zielaskowski, injured left guard who did not make the southern trip, is still out with a dislocated elbow.

Santa Clara presents one of the biggest threats to be encountered by the Beavers this season, according to the opinion of the State coaching staff. Head mentor Buck Shaw will bring an undefeated eleven northward with him for the Portland set-to this week end. The Broncs, while not in the coast conference, are always highly-respected rivals, and wins over them are generally highly prized by PCC teams. The game in Multnomah Stadium Saturday will mark the first meeting of the two teams in the history of the schools.

Scrap Iron and Steel Continue To Roll In

Continued from First Page assembled and shipped before winter arrives to block our roads and curtail our transportation facilities in rural and other areas."

While in Heppner, the assistant secretary learned from C. D. Conrad, Morrow county salvage chairman, and from Gene Ferguson, chairman of the Heppner Inter-allied industry committee, that farm implement dealers as well as automobile, petroleum and rubber dealers of the county are aiding in the current campaign; that the Morrow county road crew, the county's FFA boys, the Soil Conservation service and the CCC also are giving valuable aid, and the neighborhood leader groups, headed by the county salvage chairman, are emphasizing and promoting collections in rural areas.

In addition, the visitor was assured by Superintendent George Corwin that Heppner grade and high school students also are throwing and will continue to throw "their scrap into the fight," and that all remaining schools in Morrow county are lending further impetus to the drive under the leadership of Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, county school superintendent.

"This cooperative spirit, as manifested by your salvage groups and by the people of Morrow county as a whole, is to be commended highly," Finney declared, "and the state salvage committee knows that it can count on you to come through in the future as great a manner as you have in the past.

"Nor can one forget," he added, "the important part that your newspapers and all newspapers throughout Oregon are playing in promoting the 'scrap for salvage'. They deserve and should receive much credit for the same."

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

HAPPENED to me only yesterday. I step on the starter of my car. Engine turns over O. K. but she won't start.

So I look under the hood just as if I know what's the matter. Tap a few things with a wrench. While I'm standin' there, wondering what to do next, a young soldier stops alongside.

"Need some help?" he asks. "Got her almost fixed," I say. "But still she won't start."

"Looks like your carburetor's flooded," he says. "Got a screw driver handy?"

That young soldier knew what he was doin' all right. Went to work just like a professional.

"She'll be O.K. now," he says, straightenin' up and smilin'.

Boy's face looked sort of familiar. And darned if that soldier wasn't young Charlie Jenkins from Elm Street. Used to be a round-shouldered kid—one of those jitter bugs you hear about. Say! You wouldn't know him after six months in the Army. Fifteen pounds heavier—straight and tan and real sure of himself. The Army's done a lot for Charlie. Made a man out of him—and I guess that goes for lots of other young fellows, too.

The other day I read how some folks worry about the soldiers havin' a glass of beer now and then. Well, after seein' Charlie, I don't think there's much cause for people to fret.

Just like Charlie says—"If you can trust us with guns and ships and tanks, I guess you can trust us with a glass of beer once in a while, if we happen to want one."

And I know the beer industry is co-operating with the Army and the law-enforcement officers to see that beer is sold in good, clean, decent places.

From where I sit, this country's never seen a finer, cleaner, better-behaved lot of men than the ones in uniform today... I'm not worryin' about 'em!
