LOCAL YOUTHS RELATE EXPERIENCES TO LIONS

Receiving training in the world's largest naval hospital is a novel experience, Scott McMurdo told Heppner Lions club Monday noon. Scott has been stationed at the hospital the last six months and already has seen much evidence of the brutality of war. He finds San Diego a most interesting city because of the several large units of the armed forces located there.

Bernard McMurdo, nearing the end of his course in dentistry at North Pacific Dental college in Portland, is looking forward to military service within a few months, or at least after establishing a practice. He has been serving as a civilian guard during the past year, a task involving some hazards and from which he has gained interesting experience.

Miss Kathryn Parker favored the group with the singing of Cantique de Noel, by Adams accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Turner at the piano.

School Resumes Work Monday A. M.

Vacations "ain't what they used to be" and teachers and pupils alike appeared cheerful about the resuming pursuit of elusive ideas Monday morning. While all those spending their vacations in other places were successful in getting there and back it was evident that travel conditions are not entirely favorable and much of the pain of returning to work was alleviated.

One new member joined the teaching staff Monday, bringing cheer to Supt. George Corwin. Miss Cristobel Osborne has assumed charge of the eighth grade, a post filled by substitution the past two months since the resignation of Floyd Perry.

Other members of the staff, with the exception of Miss Joyce Eugil and Miss Frances Weaver who remained here during the holidays, spent their vacations at distant points. Miss Margaret Wright went to her home in Portland; Miss Evelyn Youngberg, Hillsboro; Mrs. Norbert Peavy and children were with her people in Idaho; Miss Lela Peterson visited her father and sister at Grants Pass; Miss Bonnie Bartlett went to Portland and will not be back until next Monday; a recent illness at her home at Stan- Miss Rose Hoosier recuperated from field, and Miss Myrthema Martin spent the week with her family near Madras. The faculty men rested up at home.

SUFFERS LIGHT STROKE

Mrs. Sarah Parker suffered a slight paralytic stroke Christmas day. She was in usual health at breakfast, which she had in bed and later decided to get up. The first intimation the family had that anything was wrong was when they heard her fall. She suffered no injury from the fall but it was found that her voice was affected. Later in the day she was able to say a few words and she likewise enjoyed part of the Christmas dinner. "Grandmother" as she is known to relatives, and friends is approaching her 99th birthday and has made her home with her son, Frank S. Parker, and family for the past 15 years.

ENTERTAINS GUESTS

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers observed Christmas in a fitting manner by entertaining 11 dinner guests. Seated at the table, hostess included, were Rev. and Mrs. Bennie Howe, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McNamer, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Rasmus, T. J. Humphreys, Miss Leta Humphreys, and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dix and Jean.

GUESTS AT HIATT HOME

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hiatt and Mrs. Hubert Gaily for Christmas dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Crockett Sprouls and daughter Janet of Hermiston.

HERE FOR CHRISTMAS

Hubert Gaily spent Christmas here with Mrs. Gaily. He returned to his work in Pendleton Friday night.

HANGERS COMING IN MANY MORE NEEDED

A start has been made on Morrow county's quota of 1,000 coat hangers for Camp Adair at Corvallis but it is only a start. Durbrought in a few and doubtless more of the week contributors have will come in when the people understand the need.

Soldiers moving from one army camp to another are limited to the actual clothing and supplies issued by the army. Coat hangers are not included. At Camp Adair the men in training must face all weather conditions. They return to barracks with their suits badly soiled. It does little good to clean them, if they cannot be hung up so that they will not wrinkle. Therefore the need of good wire or wooden hangers (no paper hangers accepted.)

The Gazette Times has a box just inside the front door to receive your contributions. Or, if in Ione, give them to Rev. J. Fred Stilwell. The need is urgent as training must go on and—well you can guess what the weather is down Camp Adair way.

RETURNS TO BEND

Miss Teresa Breslin returned to her teaching job at Bend Sunday after a holiday visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Breslin. She wrote back that she encountered a snow storm along the Columbia which retarded travel and kept her on the road all day.

UNCLE DIES AT WAITSBURG

Mrs. Frank S. Parker and O. G. Crawford received word of the death today at Waitsburg, Wash., of Hugh D. Dunlap, last member of a family of Oregon pioneers and a brother of the late Mrs. J. V. Crawford. He was born in Linn county more than 83 years ago. Until quite recently Mr. Dunlap made an annual pilgrimage to the valley to attend the Brownsville reunion and picnic, participating in the oldtime fiddlers' contests which he frequently won. Funeral services will be held at Waitsburg at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mustangs Ready

from last year's undefeated "B" squad are Bothwell, Lovgren, Kenney, Schunk and Parrish. A big loss hit the team when Ulrich, diminutive guard, was forced to give up basketball due to doctor's orders. Only a freshman, he had proved himself one of the outstanding scorers on the team.

Heppner boasts one of the outstanding records in eastern Oregon as far as the win and loss columns are concerned. Her basketball teams have won 41 games out of 46 played, averaging 39 points to the opponents' 23. Very few of these games have been push-overs, as the Mustangs have bowled over by quite large margins such top "B" teams as Union, Arlington, Ganon, Helix and Umagine. Also Hermiston, an "A" school, has been beaten four times in the last two seasons. Some of these teams have upset conference members of the Blue Mountain league.

Much shorter and less experienced than in past years, Coach Lyle Swenson's Mustangs are still expected to be in the standing as one of the top "B" teams of eastern Oregon.
