

Mrs. America Meets the War

Rayon to Mrs. America these but to Uncle Sam it means war goods—cords for military tires, paratroop uniforms and lining for cords for parachutes, material for military uniforms. Perhaps you wonder how that delicate material in stockings or dress materials can be toughened to a war job. Actually the same ingredients and manufacturing technique are used for rayon as milady knows it and as it goes to war. The weight is superstrong for its military role, the main difference and it is made so far it has not been necessary to prohibit the manufacture of any rayon product because of its expanding use for war. However, the range of hosiery colors has been reduced, and some simplification of construction may follow.

Home may have never been quite like this, but soon Mrs. America may have skillets made from heat-resistant glass, dust pans of paper-board and molded fibre, and rugated paper board. When store-clothes hangers made from cork-keeper's inventories run low on civilian goods made from steel and other critical materials, certain substitutes may save the day for some articles which otherwise may be out. There is more wood furniture replacing metal furnishings, and wood also will be used for buckets, trays, washboards, vegetable bins which have been made of metal. Glass, bone and non-critical plastics also will be used for these articles.

Butgetting homemakers should welcome the OPA action in setting new and uniform margins for retailers on nine food commodities—coffee, canned fish, cooking and salad oils and hydrogenated and other shortening, corn meal, canned citrus fruits and juices, evaporated and condensed milk, pure maple syrup, pure corn syrup, flour and flour mixes. The uniform mark-ups will be applied to his net cost by your storekeeper to determine his ceiling prices. This is part of the OPA program designed to simplify price control for Mrs. America as well as her grocer. It is expected that this uniform mark-up procedure will be followed by broader action on other products.

Packaging is the latest civilian convenience to lose more frills for the duration. The WPB has cut the production of boxes used by retailer merchants for packaging merchandise, and at the same time board which can be used in the restricted the quality of paper manufacture of special gift boxes. The WPB expects to provide more containers for products that formerly were packed in tin by the new order.

And speaking of packaging, the expression "wrapped in cellophane" is about to become more of a war casualty. Cellophane is the best known form of cellulose film which has become a much-needed war material. Among the packages which formerly had cellophane wrapping, but won't any more, are boxes of candy, tea, spices, pepper, unshelled nuts. If you used to find certain cartons of dried fruits with overwraps of this material, or rice, barley, macaroni, noodles, ect., they'll be without from now on.

The housewife in rural communities stands to benefit today from the government order limiting big-store inventories. Her home-like merchant will be able to have a better stock of goods from which she can choose since the order is intended to make a more equitable distribution of goods instead of allowing them to accumulate in warehouses. So in these days of gas rationing, when trips into the city are difficult, Mrs. Rural America should find that she will have access in her own community to the things her family needs.

CHURCH OF CHRIST HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The Church of Christ in Heppner had one of its most successful years in two decades or so. This was revealed very satisfactorily in the annual reports of the Church. Beginning the year with nearly $2,000 indebtedness, the church, under the leadership of T. J. Humphreys, was able to clear itself of his obligation and still have some to spare. For the first time in 22 years the church is free of debt, and has an adequate surplus in the general fund with all bills paid.

When most other Bible scshools have been showing a decrease in attendance, as national figures reveal, the Bible school of the church had an increase of over 15 percent. The increase in membership was in proportion. There were 23 baptisms and 13 statements of membership last year as compared to the same number in the last four years.

Kenny Treatment Is Demonstrated

Although the Kenny method was a matter of pronounced skepticism until three years ago, its amazing results since have won the endorsement of the American medical profession. After a thirty-year struggle for recognition the Australian Bush nurse came to this country in 1940 and through funds provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis she was established at the University of Minnesota. Further study at the Minneapolis General and University of Minnesota Hospitals was made possible by the Foundation and has enabled scientists throughout the nation to carry on extensive research into the subject. The Kenny method of treatment consists of the use of hot applications plus a highly specialized method of restoring weakened muscles to their normal use. It does away with splints and plaster casts. It is by no means a cure. It is, however, a tremendous step forward in the treatment of the disease, and in many cases eliminates painful and crippling after-effects.
