

Banquet and Prom Social Success

Participants and onlookers alike agree that the junior-senior prom given at the high school gymnasium Saturday evening was the outstanding school social event of the year as well as one of the most successful in many seasons.

Preceded by the banquet at the parish house, where some 60 sat down to an elegant spread put on by the mothers of the juniors, the prom attracted many onlookers. The large basketball floor was converted into a summer garden, the dancing space fenced in by streamers of colored crepe paper. Chairs were placed outside the garden fence for spectators, of which there were many during the evening.

Food, Drink Establishments Advised to Comply With Rules

Food and drink establishments selling their products for immediate consumption are reminded by the price panel of Morrow county rationing board to observe regulations relative to posting menus. A copy of the regulation, received within the week by the rationing board, has the following to say:

Section 10. Posting.
(a) Beginning May 15, 1943, each menu must have clearly and plainly written on or attached to it the following statement:

"All prices listed are at or below our ceiling prices. By OPA regulations, our ceilings are our highest prices from April 4, 1943 to April 10, 1943. Records of these prices are available for your inspection.

If you do not use menus, you must post the statement by a sign which can be easily read by your customers and which must be located near the cashier's desk, if any, or the principal entrance.

(b) If you made menus available to customers in the seven-day period, you shall continue to make them available.

Such establishments are reminded that under the restaurant maximum price regulation No. 8-1 the following practices may not be permitted unless sanctioned by the price panel:

1. Prices on any item may not be raised above the highest price charged from April 4 to 10, 1943.

2. Quality nor quantity may not be lessened.

3. Dinners offered between April 4-10 may not be dropped from the menu, i. e., a 35c special luncheon offered as a regular practice during the week of April 4-10 must continue to be offered.

When the new price ceilings for food commodities in this area are established, the price panel will consider any requests for changes in menu prices.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Pete Swanson fancies himself as an armchair strategist. Sometimes he gets so tangled up, I just can't resist tryin' to straighten him out.

For instance, the other day he was waxing indignant about our soldiers being allowed to buy beer right in camp. Said that was just coddling the troops and would ruin discipline.

I told him the actual facts had already been established by a study the Government made. Their report said chaplains and the military police agree that instead of ruining discipline, 3.2 beer sold in Army camps provides our soldiers with a mild form of relaxation without impairing their efficiency.

Well, Pete allowed that the chaplains and military police are a pretty good authority on what's right for soldiers. I've noticed lately he's been confining his remarks to the broader phases of strategy.
