Marines Are Wearing.

This smart forest green uniform is now being worn by members of the U. S. Marine Corps Women's Reserve, recently organized to free Leathernecks for combat duty. Aside from a flared skirt, the only striking difference from the regulation Marine winter uniform is a scarlet cord decorating the front of the visored cap. A scarlet wool muffler is a feminine complement to the top coat.

Blackburn School And Patrons Picnic

Pupils, teachers and patrons of the Blackburn school staged a picnic at the site of the old mill Wednesday of last week. There were 25 present to participate in the games and a bountiful dinner, for which Miss Margaret Glavey, teacher provided ice cream, to the surprise and pleasure of the youngest and the oldest and the in-betweens.

In the absence of a table the group improvised one by utilizing an old truck body that was turned upside down.

School closed Friday. School children helped clean the school house and were then presented with their report cards.

HERE FROM CORVALLIS

Bill Barratt is spending the week at home, coming from Corvallis where he is a senior at Oregon State college. In company with his mother, Mrs. Cyrene Barratt, brother Jim, and Mrs. Lera Crawford and son Calvin, he will leave Saturday for Corvallis to receive his "sheepskin" from the college. Mrs. Crawford and Calvin will go to Eugene to attend commencement at the University of Oregon where John Crawford is a member of the graduating class. From there Mrs. Crawford and sons will go to Berkeley, Calif., to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Githens.

dried molasses beet pulp for laxative and conditioning purposes. Every pen contained fresh water. I found that common table salt fed with the hay was less conducive to stiffness than ordinary block or stock salt. The feed bunks were kept clean at all times, and waste feed was not allowed to accumulate. I used in this operation 600 sacks of grain from our farm and thus saved transportation cost and vital storage space, plus another 600 sacks of Commodity Credit Corporation Wheat which the government asked be fed to produce meat. to our war effort, I was able to furnish wool skins for over 50 flying suits, wool enough for 75 complete army uniforms, and 70,000 pounds of choice lamb. I had the satisfaction of knowing that 35,000 pounds of this meat were used on government order and shipped directly to the Quartermaster's Corps in San Francisco for Army use.

Yours truly,
Phill Cohn

SOMETIMES-ON SOME CALLS-THE LONG DISTANCE OPERATOR WILL SAY

Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting

MANY Long Distance calls go through about as fast as ever.

But sometimes there's an extra-heavy rush on certain circuits—especially in war-busy places.

Whenever that happens, the operator will ask you to limit your Long Distance calls to 5 minutes.

The idea is to give everybody a fair share of the wires. That gets to be more and more important every day.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition," said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle.

"So, instead of a beer or two, well—I guess we generally drank too much! . . . wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

I got out the official report the Office of War Information made and read him this: "The fact that there is vastly less drinking among soldiers in this war may stem in part from the sale of beer in camps."

From where I sit, it certainly doesn't look as if we had to worry about our boys. We learned our lesson in the last war, and I'm glad to see we're on the right track now.
