Mrs. America Meets the War

Mrs. America has the answer to many a war mother's wish . . . send a picture of the baby to daddy who's fighting for his country on foreign battlefields. The war department has announced that under certain conditions photographs of children under one year of age of soldiers serving overseas or of children born after the father left for overseas duty, may be sent by v-mail. The regulation form must not be altered in any way and the photograph is limited in size to not more than one-third of the correspondence space on the v-mail form. The photograph must appear on the upper left portion of the correspondence space. It may include the mother or some other person holding the child.

When Mrs. America goes shopping this month, here are rationing dates for her to remember. Sugar stamp 13 in war ration book one remains valid through Aug. 15. Stamps 15 and 16 are good for five pounds of sugar each to be used in home canning. Red stamps for 16 points of meats, fats, oils and cheeses, useable until July 31, are P which became valid on June 27, Q which became valid July 4, R on July 11 and S on July 18. In purchasing canned, frozen and certain dehydrated foods, blue stamp K, L, and M expired July 7 while blue stamps N, P and Q became valid on July 1 and may be used through Aug. 7.

Those handy cartons used to carry soft drinks can no longer be made. Manufacture has been prohibited by WPB order to save paper-board for use by the armed forces and lend lease and for packaging foods for civilians. Furthermore, restrictions have been placed on the manufacture of cartons and wrappers for cigarette packages, certain wearing apparel accessories, boxes and rubber heel boxes. However, Mrs. America will be glad to know that the order does not affect paper shipping sacks or grocers variety bags. WPB expects that approximately 15,000 tons of paper-board and 2,000 tons of paper will be saved annually by these conservation measures.

Good news for the coffee drinkers in Mrs. America's family. In view of the present favorable supply situation, the OPA has increased the coffee ration to one pound every three weeks. Stamp 21 in war ration book one became valid July 1 and will expire on July 21. Stamp 22 will be valid from July 22 to August 11. It is the first time since coffee rationing began that supplies have reached a normal level and that imports to sustain that volume can be anticipated.

"Ladies-in-waiting" will be interested in the recent war production amendment which permits maternity dresses to be cut with a six inch fuller sweep. This increases the maximum width from 80 to 86 inches — sizes 3 to 10—provided they do not have suspenders, a bib, or any button-on feature.

Treat that "welcome" mat on your front door step with care. Production of fiber door mats has been cut off by recent WPB order putting coir under restrictive controls. Coir, the fiber obtained from the shell of the coconut, from now on will be reserved for military orders.

Having Trouble Getting Help?

So are we. Like you, we're faced with the biggest production job in our history. And, like you, we've lost many of the men who used to help us.

Yet that's only part of the story. Every day, on farm and factory, there's something new to test the skill of those running the business. Not only getting help, but—to mention a few others—rising costs, making a fair profit, and setting aside reserves for a rainy day. Essentially, those problems are the same for farm and factory, though they may at times differ in size.

But it is that thing called "management," that peculiarly American ability to think through problems no matter how tough, that is helping to see us through today.

It is this skill in management that farmers and businessmen have most in common, a skill which insures the realization of our determination to produce all that's needed for our country today, and, tomorrow, to make a fair living through greater service to our fellow Americans. General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

More Fats Needed ...

Save every drop of fats and grease. Your country needs every bit of it in the manufacture of munitions. Use what you need, of course, but put every bit you can spare into a can and bring it to our market. We will weigh it up and pay you for it.

And here's just a little hint: The meat you buy from this market not only gives you added strength to carry on the war effort but gives you the necessary fats for your cooking and good returns for the salvage grease can.
