Tragic "Magic Carpet"

1 First stop, Athens. A sick child collapses before your eyes. If, in your pocket, you had the medicine to save her, would you give it? Would you? You would!

2 Now you're on a mountain road in Yugoslavia. Knife-sharp ice tears at the half-bare feet of the guerilla fighter struggling on his way. On his way—if you please—to blow up a railroad bridge and plunge a trainload of Nazi troops and supplies to destruction. Would you give him a pair of shoes to help him on his mission? Would you? And how would you?

3 The magic carpet whisks you, this time, right back here to our town for the moment. Another case of war-time "juvenile delinquency" stands before a magistrate. A girl who needs help, guidance. Would you give it if you could? Well, you can!

4 All aboard...for the South Pacific. A God-forsaken Marine post. Nothing to do. Suppose you could give a party for the guys who are fighting your fight. Would you? You would!

5 Next stop...China. Freezing, starving, dying. For five years they've been our fighting allies, and the Japs haven't licked them yet. Would you help them to keep on fighting...on our side? Would you? You would!

On and on it goes...the world around. And that is why this new, efficient way to help has been created. Our community's war fund in which The National War Fund participates. You give once...and for all! Seventeen War Agencies and your own local agencies are banded together. Look over the list. Figure out what you'd give each agency. Add it up...and double it!
