Our Men In Service

LIKES TO HEAR FROM OLD HOME TOWN

O. G. Crawford, Editor
Heppner Gazette Times,
Heppner, Oregon;

"Hello" from a Heppnerian!

I want to thank you for the issues I've received of the Gazette Times. Even though the "old home town" and I have been strangers these past few years, there is much of interest in the local paper. Especially now, with myself and so many others in the service, I enjoy reading of the whereabouts and activities of those I know.

As you probably know, when the war began I resigned my coaching position in Phoenix, Arizona, and soon afterward went overseas for the war department. When my leave came up and they sent me back to the States for a month, they wanted to get into the service itself was too great to resist. So once again I resigned and applied for a commission in the navy.

Now they are making a navigator of me. It's a great life, and from looks of things here, those little sons of Nippon are in for a terrific pasting before long. When we complete our training here it seems certain that we will receive an immediate assignment in transport service (in the Pacific probably) or at an advanced Pacific air base, or aboard an aircraft carrier. We should finish here in late February, I believe.

Met both Alan Gibb and Elby Akers while in Panama. Both were well and doing a good job for Uncle Sam.

Also called both Clifford Driscoll and Marshall Fell while in Washington, D. C., but the navy gives a fellow very little time for social calls these days.

Glad to read that HHS lads are still playing good football. Incidentally, "my boys" won the Arizona state championship in my final coaching season, two days before Pearl Harbor.

Well, both aerology and navigation are calling for a bit of study, so I'll say "so long—and thanks again." Good luck!!

Sincerely,

GORDON (Buck) BUCKNUM,
Ensign, USNR

'Not Guilty' Is Jury Verdict in Robinson Case

State Fails to Prove Accused Man Killed Elk in Question

The jury serving on the Roy Robinson case brought in a verdict of not guilty at 4:55 this evening. Robinson was charged with wasting elk meat but the state failed to convince the jury that he had even killed the animals.

At a late hour this afternoon the jury on the case of the State of Oregon vs. Roy Robinson had failed to reach an agreement and there was considerable speculation over the prospect of no decision. The case opened Wednesday immediately following closing of the state vs. Victor Colin Ireland, charged with rape involving a minor girl, and was handed to the jury this morning.

The case against Earl January, held over from a previous term, was dismissed when it was learned that January had made restitution for all stock involved in the charge. Ireland was acquitted.

Judge Calvin Sweek of Pendleton had presided at this term of court.

Meeting with the group Tuesday evening and assisting in formulating organization plans was Mrs. B. C. Forsythe of Ione, director of the high school division of the state P-TA.

About 12 women of the community were invited by Supt. George Corwin to attend the meeting and assist in the organization plans.

Willie Eugene Mikesell was born in Missouri more than 71 years ago. He came with his parents to Morrow county at the age of 11 and had been a continuous resident here. He acquired 160 acres of land just south of Heppner city limits where he and his faithful wife raised their family and maintained a comfortable home.

RETURN FROM LONG TRIP
After covering a territory embracing nearly two-thirds of the country, Mr. and Mrs. James Valentine and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ferguson returned to Heppner Tuesday evening. Their original destination was Chicago via Rochester Minn. Reaching Chicago they obtained transportation to Texas where the Fergusons were rewarded by a visit with their son Kay, a member of Uncle Sam's fighting force, and where the party visited Mrs. Ferguson's uncle, J. G. Crawford, and Mrs. Crawford. They report all Texas relatives in good health except Mrs. Vawter Parker and daughter Cecelia whom they were unable to see because of their illness. The J. G. Crawfords live at Arlington, Tex., where they have a small acreage and the head of the family works off surplus energy taking care of his garden and poultry.

Seal Sale Passes $600 Mark to Date
Seal sales in the county had passed the $600 mark the past week-end, returns checked over by the chairman, Mrs. K. A. House, revealed. This is short of the goal set by the county committee but it is expected that when all funds are turned in the quota and possibly more will be reached. Mrs. House urges everyone to respond, doubly if necessary, to meet the obligation placed upon the association in tuberculosis control work throughout the country.

Since the funds to support the tuberculosis association are raised wholly from small individual contributions, every gift counts, the chairman points out. After the county has raised more than eight cents per capita, 75 percent of the gross amount is retained here to carry on association work.

Churches, Schools Arrange Programs For Ensuing Week

Christmas is not far away, so close, that church and school programs commemorating the birth of Christ have been announced for the ensuing week. Most of the churches of the county will present Sunday school and choir programs this coming Sunday, while schools are preparing to present their programs just prior to the close of activities preceding the holidays.

O. Wendell Herbison, pastor of the Church of Christ, announces that regular Christmas services will be held throughout the day Dec. 19. At the morning service the choir and others will present a small concert. There will be regular Christian Endeavor meetings in the evening, followed by a modern play by the younger people, the theme being "Even as much as ye did it unto me." There will be a children's program at the Bible school hour.

The Methodist Sunday school will occupy the evening hour, beginning at 7:30 p. m., according to Bennie Howe, pastor. A general program of song and verse has been arranged. There will also be a sound film.

Services announced for the holiday period at All Saints Episcopal church include a church school program at 9:45 a. m. Sunday. In the evening the choir will lead in a carol service in which the audience will be asked to participate. The regular Christmas eve service will be held at 10 p. m. Friday, Dec. 24 at which time there will be special music and observance of Holy Communion.

High mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Catholic church at mid night Dec. 24 On Christmas day Father Francis McCormick will hold services at 9 a. m. at Ione and return to Heppner for a 10:30 a. m. service.

A preholiday program has been prepared by the Heppner schools and will be presented Wednesday night at the school gymnasium. An outline of the program will be found elsewhere in this issue.
