CONTRIBUTION GIVEN

The two-day drive for the March of Dimes resulted in a total of $7.63, which was not as good a showing as would have been had the drive been taken up earlier at the school.

PRIZES AWARDED

Results of a splendid color week have been posted. The sophomores took first honors for their decoration of the up-stairs hall, and the girls league won the prize for their decoration of the Heppner Bakery window down town. Prizes consisted of $2 each.

OFFICERS RETURN

Welcomed back to the student body after considerable absence are vice president Helen Blake and Howard Pettyjohn.

LOUD SOX DISPLAYED

After a routine day Tuesday, except for continuous flashing of loud sox by the juniors, it was decided that all juniors who did not participate will sponsor the next assembly.

PASTOR SPEAKS

Monday at 8:45 O. Wendell Heribson pastor of the Church of Christ talked to the high school on "Digging the wells of patriotism and also religion."

Unbelievable though his statistics of crime and murder committed, the amount of cigarettes sold and smoked in the U. S., he made every one realize that patriotism is not just waving a flag, and that the standards of the world tomorrow depend upon the youth of today.

MUSTANGS STILL IN RUNNING

Friday Feb. 4 the Mustangs will journey to Arlington to meet the Honkers in the final league game. Should Heppner take Arlington they will have to play off the tie with Fossil probably. It is hoped luck will fall the Mustang way.

RELATIVES VISIT

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwarz over the week-end were Billy Schwarz and family from The Dalles who were here Sunday and Mr. Schwarz's younger brother Fred of Milwaukie who was here from Friday to Monday. It was the first time the brothers had been together in over 20 years and they had a great visit. Henry Schwarz has been bedfast much of the time since the removal of his leg in the fall of 1942 but he remains cheerful.

Share the Ride Not Idle Phrase

A great many people having B or C cards are giving no heed to the "share the ride" plan, states the local rationing board. Since no attention has been paid to the policy the OPA has had to make more rigid regulations regarding the issuance of coupon books and tire certificates.

The board would like to call attention of all A, B, and C book holders that anyone contemplating a trip to Pendleton, Arlington or Portland, as an illustration, so inform the local office. The board has names of people wishing to make out of town trips, as well as a list of those preparing to drive, and by contacting the rationing office it is possible to arrange passenger lists. Car drivers continuing to ignore the share the ride ruling may find difficulty in renewing their gas books.

In this connection the board reports that the plan has been generally adopted by workers at Heppner Lumber company mill and is proving satisfactory.

Mileage Board Has Regular Meetings

Tuesday is the regularly scheduled meeting day of the mileage board, according to the local rationing office. Applicants for tires should have their papers ready to present prior to that date if they do not or can not wait another week. It is necessary to present tire inspection record as well as a gasoline book, and the ruling applies to all classifications, A, B, C, and T book holders. Tire inspection must be up to date and no permit will be issued for a new tire until present ones have been recapped.

There will be no more sugar for curing meats, states the rationing board. The sugar has been allotted to commercial mix concerns and farmers are expected to use these products.

J. J. Nys is chairman of the mileage panel which includes Henry Baker, Fred Ross, June Smith and Beulah Barkla.

FLORENCE LUELLA BARLOW

Florence Luella Barry was born Nov. 25, 1874, in Hancock county, Ill., and departed this life Jan. 24, 1944 at Boardman, Ore. She was married in September 1891 to Frank Barlow in Thomas county, Kan., and came to Morrow county in 1902, arriving here on July 3. With her husband she lived in the Eight Mile section until 1925 when they moved to Boardman and where in the fall of 1942 Mr. Barlow preceded her in death.

Services were held in Boardman Jan. 26. Surviving are C. W. Barlow of Heppner; Daisy E. Gillespie, Boardman; Golda F. Cox, Seattle; Mrs. Claude Coats, Boardman; Mrs. Letta R. Messenger, Lexington; A. R. Barlow, Eugene, and several grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people of Heppner for this assistance and expressions of sympathy in our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Crockett Sproules and daughter
Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Darland and son.
