

Food Administrator To Speak March 4

Marvin Jones, national war food administrator, will speak over the Blue Network at 4:30 p. m. Pacific Standard Time, March 4 and will bring a special message from the president on the launching of the nation-wide 4-H mobilization week.

The week of March 4 to 10 will be devoted to the reorganization of 4-H clubs in all rural areas throughout the nation and special emphasis will be given on all 4-H projects that will contribute to the national food program. A million seven hundred thousand 4-H club members helped with this program last year and it is expected that even more boys and girls will do their part in this important program this year.

In addition to the message that Marvin Jones will bring on the national 4-H broadcast, a 4-H boy, who is now a hero over seas, will discuss by short-wave the importance of food on the fighting front.

Other participants in this broadcast will include Ensign Werneth Wilson, a West Virginia club girl for 11 years, who has four brothers in the service and who herself is company commander of 200 Waves; John Keeney, state agricultural project chairman in Iowa; as well as Marcelling Simmons, last year's North Carolina victory garden champion. Another speaker on the program will be Mrs. Mary Hatch, a Wisconsin local club leader for the past 29 years.

Librarian Gives Rules on Book Use

Because not all of the readers of the Heppner Public Library are familiar with these rules, Mrs. B. E. Isom librarian, requests that the following be observed: Books and magazines can be renewed only by bringing them to the library for renewal. No one can take out books until all fines are paid. A book can be renewed only once, and all books to be returned must be brought to the library, or to Mrs. Isom's home.

Several new books have been received at the library recently. Among them are: Taps for Private Tussie, by Stuart, an amazing story of the way one family spent the insurance they received from their soldier.

"The Battle is the Pay Off," by Ingerson; Johnny Tremaine, by Forbes and "Teresita" by Means, both books for children in the 8th and 9th grades. "Don't Count Your Chicks," by Avlaire for the very young readers.

Signs of Spring

THE days are still short; half the nation shivers under a blanket of snow—but there are signs of spring everywhere if you know where to look for them.

They are little things—such as new seed catalogs, ads clipped from magazines, reminders, scribbled on backs of envelopes, of things to be done.

Thousands of men, all over the country, are making such notes, looking ahead—farmers, manufacturers, storekeepers, bankers. They represent what is called "management," and they know that to make the most of any season requires pretty careful figuring.

There's a skill in this management. It's a skill that men who run things have in common—that men who run things successfully have got to have. Management's problems are a good deal alike, no matter what the business—getting help, meeting payrolls and tax payments, making ends meet and having a little left over for new projects, planning for the future without letting the planning interfere with the job in hand.

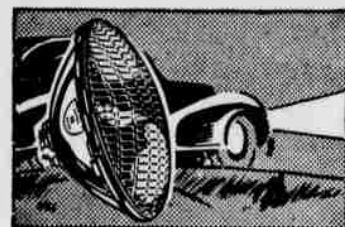

And when you talk with these men, you find they have the same objectives, too. Right now they want to get the war won at the lowest possible cost in lives and suffering. After that's done, they'll be back on their never-ending job of turning out the material things needed to make a better peacetime world. General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
